A Tragic Test

Horses Best After All

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Horses will replace motorized equipment on 15 of 30 milk routes operated by Foremost Dairies Ltd. in the Kitchener-Waterloo area, the company's president, Robert C. Marran, said Tuesday.

Mr. Marran said tests proved the horse-drawn delivery system was efficient, fast and consistent.

U.K. Strike

Prospects Look Gloomy

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Maritime strike entered a grim phase Tuesday with an uncompromising statement from the seamen's leader that the stoppage could last a month.

In that time the country's economy, already shaky, could be crippled.

The pessimistic statement from William Hogarth, secretary of the striking 65,000-member National Union of Seamen, coincided with indications that the country's longshoremen could become involved in the strike, which began May 15.

Jack Dash, unofficial longshoremen's leader and an admitted card-carrying Communist, warned the government that a dangerous situation would be created if troops or the navy were drafted to clear docks congested with strike-bound shipping.

Under the state of emergency proclaimed Monday, troops could be used to safeguard essential supplies.

The labor government hopes it will not be forced to use state-of-emergency powers. But if the strike is not settled within a week, naval ships could be brought in to move strikebound ships and make accommodation for foreign vessels bringing food and raw materials.

Dash also warned that in a few days there will be less work.

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A routine test turned into tragedy Tuesday when a helicopter struck a transmission tower on the side of Mount Seymour and two workmen plunged 250 feet to their deaths.

The helicopter crashed at the base of the tower, exploded and burned. Pilot Robert N. Hansen, 30, was thrown clear and was in poor condition following emergency surgery in hospital.

Killed were Joseph Jacob Yoner, 30, of Burnaby, and Robert Smith, 36, of Cloverdale.

Yoner and Smith, steelworkers employed by Western Bridge Ltd., had climbed the tower only five minutes before the accident.

They were checking to see if it was feasible to hook a line from the helicopter to the tower and had planned to unbolt the top 20-foot section so that it could be removed.

The helicopter was circling overhead while the men climbed up. Witnesses said they didn't know if the copter's rotor blade struck a guy wire first or if it hit the tower itself.

The blade chopped through the tower five feet below where the men were working. The men, a chunk of the tower and the helicopter plummeted to the ground in a shower of debris.

Two CBC technicians, Sam Greenwood and Ken Bewley, were filming the helicopter operation with an eight-millimetre movie camera. They caught the entire incident on film.

Stanley Davis, technical supervisor for radio station

CHQM, owners of the new tower on the side of Mount Seymour, said the accident happened so suddenly "we couldn't tell from the ground what was hit."

"We couldn't tell what went wrong."

"The two men started to climb back down the top 20-foot section, but it broke away and they fell."

"We couldn't see the pilot in the wreckage," said George Patton, one of the workers near the scene. "Then something moved on the ground several feet away and it was him."

"So we dragged him away from the fire."

The tower, built in 20-foot triangular sections, is part of the Vancouver radio station's transmitting system. It is located 3,000 feet up the side of the mountain.

Mr. Hansen is married with a three-year-old daughter. He is a former RCAF jet pilot and has been employed by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., owners of the Hiller L-4 helicopter, since 1964.

Department of Transport investigators were investigating.

The crash was the second in the same area involving a helicopter within the past five days. A pilot and two passengers escaped uninjured Saturday when a copter owned by Wescon Exploration, a North Vancouver mining company, fell 40 feet.

Labor Ferment Spreads

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 700 civic workers in North Vancouver city and district went on strike Tuesday for higher pay as labor problems continued to grow throughout British Columbia.

The walkout ended garbage collection, road work and clerical work in civic offices and the court house. Some of the strikers are employed in the district's 38 senior and elementary schools but the union said it would not interfere with teachers or students.

Authorities planned to keep all the schools open without janitors, secretaries and maintenance employees. There are about 18,000 students enrolled.

The strikers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), rejected an increase in salary of 11.3 per cent for a two-year period. They seek 12 per cent in a one-year contract.

Present basic wage is $2.30 an hour compared with $2.28 a year ago in the city of Vancouver where 1,500 outside workers walked out almost three weeks ago in a bid for more money.

Members of the Vancouver Civic (Outside) Workers Union (CLC) want an increase of 70 cents an hour during a three-year period. The city offered 28¢ cents in a two-year package.

Military in Nigeria Bans Political Parties

LAGOS (Reuters) — Nigeria's military rulers have abolished all political parties and said the army will remain in power for three years.

The head of Nigeria's military government, Maj. Gen. Johnson Aguiyi-Ironsi, said the measures were aimed at forging national unity.

Uganda Army Grabs Palace

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters) — Units of the Uganda army occupied the palace of the Kabaka king of Buganda Tuesday after a violent battle lasting several hours.

An official statement announcing the occupation made no mention of reports that the kabaka, Sir Edward Frederick Mutesa, had been arrested.

With the support of the palace guards, the 41-year-old king, ruler of the biggest kingdom in Buganda, held out several hours despite heavy fire from the attacking troops.

LONG FEUD
The siege was the latest episode in a long feud between the Kabaka and President Milton Obote.

King Freddie, as the kabaka was nicknamed when serving as a grenadier guards officer in the British Army, became first president of Buganda a year after the East African country gained independence from Britain. Last February, however, Obote, who was then prime minister, abrogated the constitution and assumed the presidency himself.

WORRIED ABOUT PLOT
He alleged senior officials were plotting his overthrow with the aid of foreign troops.

Last Friday the kabaka, through a Buganda parliamentary resolution, called on Obote to remove his central government from Kampala, which is in Buganda.

The president accused the kabaka of rebellion Monday night and declared a state of emergency and a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

As the palace was besieged Tuesday troops blocked all roads to the palace.

The government said security forces had occupied the palace to get to a source of illegal arms which had been used against Buganda police and troops.

Guantanamo

Warning Shot Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department said Tuesday an armed Cuban soldier was shot Saturday night after penetrating the perimeter of the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba and ignoring a warning shot fired by a U.S. marine sentry.

The statement came after Cuban Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro claimed in a Havana speech that Luis Ramirez Lopez was killed by U.S. guards at the U.S. base.

"At about 7:10 p.m. May 21, an armed Cuban soldier was observed who had penetrated the perimeter fence at the Guantanamo naval base."

"A warning shot was fired by a U.S. marine sentry which the Cuban ignored."

"When the Cuban infiltrator ignored the warning shot, a second shot was fired which resulted in the wounding of the Cuban."

Judge Begins Review

Gerda Report Soon

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Mr. Justice Wishart Spence told newsmen Tuesday he hopes to have his report on the Munsinger affair published before the end of June.

As he shoved the 1,200-odd pages of transcript into his briefcase, the 62-year-old judge said he had rented an office in Ottawa with a large boardroom table on which he could spread all the evidence out.

Asked if he was going to take a vacation before writing the report, he replied: "I usually go away after I write them — I find it healthier that way."

The judge must now wade his way through the evidence given by 11 witnesses, contained in several RCMP and government reports, and summed up in argument by four lawyers.

He has promised that if he is going to condemn anyone in his report, he will give the aggrieved people an opportunity to defend themselves in another hearing.

Consequently, Tuesday, he adjourned, rather than terminated the hearings that were so crucial to so many political careers.

Most observers at the hearings felt certain that the judge will be sharply critical.

Old Sea Hands Told Them So

By JOY HUNTLEY

KELSEY BAY — Money changed hands here Sunday and many residents put on their "smuggest smile" to say "I told you so" when the Queen of Prince Rupert crashed into pilings at the terminal here.

The pride of Premier Bennett's ferry fleet, which boasts more tonnage afloat than the Canadian navy on the Pacific, crashed into dolphin supports after being caught by strong currents Sunday.

The big Queen had just returned from Prince Rupert with a cargo of dignitaries making the inaugural trip.

For months Kelsey Bay residents, wise in the ways of the sea, have been predicting

Capt. Thomas Parkinson would have trouble docking the big ship if a strong tide combined with a high wind.

Campbell River resident Thor Peterson, who made the trip south on the Queen of Prince Rupert, said the veteran skipper was well aware of the difficulties but had been ignored by design experts who said better facilities were unnecessary.

Mr. Peterson said: "Capt. Parkinson has made a thorough study of tides and winds here but the experts ignored him."

He added: "After the first docking attempt, when three windows on the port side were damaged, Capt. Parkinson brought her in perfectly. He did a terrific job."

A Swift tide caught the stern of the ferry and slammed it into pilings.

Steel plates were also creased in the crash. One passenger commented, "They spent millions on this flagship but pinched pennies on a proper docking facility."

Queen of Prince Rupert cost $5,500,000.

Rights' Fighter Overruled

OTTAWA (CP) — Territorial royal proclamation and game ordinances of the territories could not apply to them.

NOT GOOD LAW

Mr. Justice Emmett Hall, writing the unanimous judgment for the Supreme Court, said these rulings "are not good law and must be taken as having been overruled."

The judgment upheld a conviction of abandoning game against Sigareak, a Whale Cove Eskimo. His lawyers admitted he killed five caribou and took only parts of them home, contrary to territorial law.

But they argued the law didn't apply to Eskimos. Judge Sissons agreed, but the Territorial Appeal Court reversed his verdict.

EXCLUSION

Mr. Justice Hall said the royal proclamation excluded lands held by the Hudson's Bay Co. The offence took place along the Hudson Bay area once held by the HBC.

The judgment also said that Parliament has conferred legislative powers on the territorial council. It had approved the game ordinances and said they applied to all N.W.T. residents. The decision marked the second time the Supreme Court has overruled Judge Sissons. In the famous duck case of 1964, the court ruled that Indians must obey the Migratory Birds Convention Act.

'Fatal Shot Only Reply'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A pregnant Negro mother of four sobbed Tuesday that her husband was fatally shot by a policeman whom they asked for an escort to a hospital. A family friend told the same story.

The tearful widow, Mrs. Barbara Deadwyler, wearing a bright candy-striped maternity dress, claimed the policeman returned the pistol to its holster after the shooting and turned away when she asked him "Why did you shoot him?"

The friend, Gamalye Ferguson, testified that the policeman pushed his revolver in through the window frame on the passenger's side of their car.

Ferguson said the victim asked the officer if he would assist them to the hospital. "The policeman didn't say anything. He pushed the revolver about five inches in and fired," Ferguson said.

Conviction Appeal Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal Tuesday rejected Michael Gregory Kuzik's appeal against conviction for the Nov. 30, 1965, death of Lenora Wilson.

Kuzik, under sentence to be hanged, was convicted several weeks ago by a New Westminster Assize Court jury. Witnesses testified he walked outside a nightclub where Mrs. Wilson was employed and shot her as she arrived for work.

The jury had recommended clemency. The three court of appeal judges said they carefully reviewed the case but could find no grounds on which to allow an appeal.

PREMIER NGUYEN CAO KY's position and personal prestige have been materially strengthened by his swift, if harsh, handling of what amounted to a Buddhist-led and probably Communist supported insurrection in South Viet Nam.

Word from that scarred and still tumultuous country indicates that Premier Ky's confidence and his judgment of the people were not in error, as so many foreign observers, particularly Americans, appeared at one time to fear.

It is entirely understandable that Premier Ky would be better able to weigh more accurately the resistance strength of the rebels than would his American friends, who, after all, are relatively newly-arrived on the Viet Nam political scene, and who, in any event, too frequently underestimate the sagacity and capacity of the Oriental mind.

One remembers shudderingly the Washington down-grading of such leaders as Japan's General Shirakawa, Admiral Tojo and the rest, and later the persistent miscalculation of Chou En-lai's potential.

It would be no more than wishful thinking to suggest that Premier Ky's and the Saigon government's tribulations are at an end. But the signs are hopeful. The Da Nang rebels have capitulated. Farther north, in the old capital city of Hue, there are signs that opposition to Premier Ky has had second thoughts in the matter of armed resistance. General Pham Xuan Nham has renewed a broken pledge of allegiance, which probably means he will bring back to the government fold the well-armed and well-trained 1st Division.

But most hopeful of all, indicating a munificence and confidence heartening to his allies, was Premier Ky's decision to call a political congress in Saigon at which were assembled 1,000 civilian and military representatives.

True, the Buddhists boycotted the meeting, and they constitute a politically powerful group. But the chief of state, General Nguyen Van Thieu, reiterated his promise of an election this fall to set up a constitutional convention, and disclosed the military junta is considering the proposal to add civilians to its membership.

Assuming the truth of the theory that only by leading from strength can Saigon and its Western allies convince their enemies that the best interests of all would be met by seeking peace at the conference table, then Premier Ky's fortified position will be welcomed in the West.

His action at Da Nang may have been risky, but it was not ruthless. His Vietnamese marines tried to spare civilians and the pagodas which sheltered the rebels.

In any event, whatever the risks he took he was in the best position to evaluate them. If the situation was as desperate as some observers believe, with chaos the alternative to Premier Ky's victory, then his calculated gamble was certainly justified.

Perhaps, at long last, the Vietnamese have in this picturesque premier, the one-time combat fighter pilot, the leadership which will unite them. They must hope so; for only in unity can they find salvation.

Mixed Blessing

IT IS UNFORTUNATELY the customary story that follows the recital of holidays across the country, but its impact is none the less distressing because it has come to be expected. Once more the toll of highway and other accidents was a feature that marred the Victoria Day holiday occasion.

At least 121 persons died during the weekend in Canada, most of them as a result of highway accidents, a total double that forecast by traffic authorities and the worst toll to date for this particular holiday. A tenth of this number was recorded in British Columbia.

The greater the growth of the population the larger becomes the incidence of accidents and road fatalities, and in this respect the ratio may be no more than in former years. But the toll is such as to belaud the holiday picture and serve to emphasize that holidays can be of mixed blessing.

Even so more people probably stay at home on holiday occasions than ever before, the lessons of safety gradually having their effect. It is probably too much to hope that one day the highways will be safer when weekends and holidays come around, yet increasingly the risk of road travel at such times contains its own warning.

It is more pleasing to cite the success of the local Victoria Day celebrations, and the happier features that marked its observance. The grand downtown parade for example was one of the best in recent years, with the colorful spectacle of bands and gaily dressed drill teams and marching units, the enthusiasm of the onlookers and the fine spirit of those taking part.

The officials responsible for mounting the parade, and equally those charged with the various other events that made the weekend a scene of pleasure and relief from the normal round, are to be congratulated on their efforts.

No Alternative

CONSERVATION as it affects both the United States and Canada will almost certainly suffer through the abandonment of the 1957 agreement setting limits for net fishing for salmon, which was the unfortunate result of the failure of negotiators to reach new terms in Seattle.

Fisheries Minister Robichaud has told the House of Commons that there is no alternative but for Canada to reserve the right to extend fisheries seaward where appropriate to correct inequities, as between American and Canadian fishermen, in the catch. This is taken to mean that if the Americans continue to insist on their "historic" right to net salmon bound for northern British Columbia rivers off Noyes Island in southeast Alaska, Canadians will be given permission under regulation to net on the high seas a share of the salmon presumably headed for Alaskan rivers.

And if there is no alternative but for Canada to reserve this right, there does not seem to be an alternative but to exercise it, either, unless the United States will reconsider its position, and before this year's fishing is well under way.

The Americans have taken an adamant stand—arrogant, one New Democrat critic has called it. Hopefully, however, the equal determination Canada has now shown to secure an equitable arrangement, or else, will be sufficient to bring representatives of the two governments back before long to the negotiating table.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax

By TOM TAYLOR

IT WAS interesting to hear Lord Beeching speak to local Rotarians last week, because he's the man who caught our headlines as well as those of his own home papers by his, to some, ruthless cutting of British rail routes.

Some of these he said shouldn't have been there in the first place, although this wasn't the theme of his address.

But as a figure grown famous it was intriguing to size him up. He is a tall man, of easy manner and easy speech. He's now a peer, back with his own company, ICI, the large British industrial complex which has interests in Canada, after his safari into railway problems.

But there was nothing lordly about his air—he's a businessman not a scion of ancient aristocracy—with lots of the aplomb that obviously enabled him to ride the storms of dissent his railway policies invited.

And, something that pleased while having a script in front of him he scarcely ever looked at it. He knew his stuff. Not all speakers who know their stuff venture to ignore their printed speeches.

Lord Beeching came, he frankly admitted, to put a good face on things in Britain. He didn't believe in speaking ill of his own country when outside its boundaries, which is good advice for everyone.

It's all right to bowl out one's own family, and as an industrial critic he's been one of the sharpest in Britain, but with outsiders—that's a different proposition.

And because of this self-criticism voiced at home by him and others, he said, people elsewhere think Britain is slow, backward and on the down-grade. "Stagnant" was the word he used.

(He didn't mention it, of course, but this column immediately thought of one realm in which Britain certainly gets a move on. What takes our Parliament weeks to debate and dispose of, its contemporary at Westminster can clean up in three days.)

The deputy chairman of ICI mentioned various fields in which Britain led or was making commendable progress, in spite of the setbacks which war and its sacrifices had imposed on the British nation.

Chief among its achievements, he thought, had been its acceptance of the diminished international role that has been its postwar lot. Britain was the only world power in history whose empire had been shrunk without being overrun by barbarians. That is, by conquest.

Times have changed, of course, and one can note the difference. None of us expect the aspects that scattered the Roman Empire or the destruction of peoples by Genghis Khan. Although Hitler tried it and nobody stopped him more than did British themselves.

There are still right today also one or two national leaders who would like to expand their empires, even if having enough to do at home, but peaceful evolution of change has nevertheless a better chance nowadays.

And Britain had the perspective to adapt to the change of its fortunes, Lord Beeching indicated, and was still an important factor in world affairs. It was gearing itself to cope with the modern world like other nations of this era.

It was far from being stagnant, he assured his listeners, which will be good news to many Victorians. And even if bent on speaking favorably of his own national family he sounded as though he knew whereof he spoke.

"Polonia, Semper Fidelis"

War-Scarred but Unsubdued, All the People Are Patriots

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN from Warsaw

up and adorning his country. He may also be less than a zealous worker because he feels excluded from this process.

But, over and over, you will find this simple foreign reaction to the fact of Poland—admiration, affection, a certain incredulous wonder of their unbroken spirit, a feeling to take home that is almost a guilty feeling.

Of course the predicament of Poland is grossly obvious and the Poles accept it. On one side looms Russia and on the other Germany. It is as simple as that.

Poles have accepted the fact that Russia, in a way as brutal as anything in the history of colonialism, insists on a Communist regime. They have a bottomless distrust for the Germans which the regime undoubtedly encourages as a source of both unity and acquiescence.

Yet still there is this quality of excitement in the Polish air. Superficially the country is drab. It still looks as if the war was recently over. There has been no economic miracle here.

In the centre of cities, the apartments still stand, built of rubble brick and tacked plaster, looking like do-it-yourself slums. Almost all the pre-war buildings are still pock-marked with bullet holes or bear the ugly slashes made by small, casual tank shells.

Amenities are still scarce. You queue for ice cream or the first Baugurin products of the year (essentials are available). You pay fantastic prices to market-gardeners for peas and potatoes and they take foreign holidays on the proceeds.

The hotels are graceless and the theaters slow and indifferent. No one will refuse a tin of Pele. Live unimagineably crowded in their arched towers, their floor space rationed like bread in a time of famine. I met a young Polish-American from Chicago changing her dollars and she suddenly finding me foreign too, burst out, "It's heart-breaking."

It is. And yet she was wrong.

In Defence of a Minister

I WOULD like to say a few words in defence of Mr. Gagliardi after reading your critical editorial after his speech in Vancouver on a automobile safety.

Poor driving causes over 90 per cent of highway accidents and if we are going to insist on the car manufacturer building a crash-proof car instead of concentrating on training better drivers or taking them off the road then I think you have missed the point. Driving in today's high speed traffic requires quick concentration and a knowledge of your vehicle.

A driver's licence is not a natural right but a privilege and should be regarded as such.

To lower the accident rate in this province someone is going to have to take some positive action on a large scale and offer a few suggestions.

1. A temporary licence be granted for one year to any new driver who has passed a written examination for any law infraction.

2. A limit of two suspensions and then the licence to be cancelled permanently.

3. All service station attendants to check cars for safety features such as lights, including signal and brake, windshield wipers, turn metal, missing bumpers, etc., and if the offer to repair is refused send the licence number to the police.

The Poles are still elegant in their bony, northern manner.

Their manners are still those of a court. The women manage to dress with distinction with God knows what private arrangements. The children are wonderfully alive. Old peasants still have Rembrandt faces.

They are quick and clever and alive. Perhaps because every middle-aged man or woman knows so much, so intimately, about death. They speak with a freedom that is almost arrogant. Even in Washington there is more circumspection. They shake with laughter over the excesses and clumsiness of their government.

Their faith in God is profound and yet unbound by the usual rules of the Roman Church. They have no particular hope for the future and so can intensely enjoy the present. They expect no great change, no saving revolution and find joy in a bunch of flowers, an antique, a little of reasonable wine, a conversation far into the night with a stranger. They are quick and clever and, avid for pleasure and it is a loss-up whether their history is more bleak than that of the Irish.

They have just finished celebrating the Polish Millennium—a thousand years of Christianity and a thousand years of national identity that was from time to time rudely interrupted. It was not, typically, an altogether happy occasion. On the whole, they played it cool.

Church and state in Poland, just now, are barely on speaking terms. The May Day parade, for the regime, was not unlike an English village fête, run by some enormous vicar. It was innocent, amateur, ritual, and far too long. The Catholics at their shrine of Our Lady of Czestochowa achieved an intensity of emotion that was almost frightening. And between the two lies the tragedy of Poland.

One has no final verdict to give. One of the bishops speaking at the ceremonies at Czestochowa, cried out from the battlements of that strange fortress monastery about "Polonia, semper fidelis." That seems adequately close to the truth. And the teen-age pop singers had got it right too.

People Are Starving

Real Horror Lies Hidden in Jungle

By CYRIL DUNN from New Delhi

GOVERNMENT officials in some villages up there have been totally deserted by their people. In flight from famine, they crossed the border into the neighboring state of Madhya Pradesh looking for work—but were driven back by state authorities with famine problems of their own.

Some of these desperate migrants have tried to leave their children at an American mission hospital in the area. But the hospital, struggling to keep going with barely enough water for its present needs, cannot cope. It took in one small bag of bones because she was left on the doorstep overnight and was within hours of death. She is now doing well and is being led to suppose by the Indian Christian nurses that her name is Molly.

Orissa has enough food to feed everyone, though not lavishly. There are vast stocks of imported foreign food on which she could have drawn. So why was nothing swift and adequate done to save the people of the red areas from such suffering?

It is conceivable that news of what was slow to come to the interior was slow to come to the interior. It is generally supposed here that the chief sufferers have been the aboriginal tribesmen up on their high conical hills and the Untouchables, Gandhi's Children of God, but this does not seem to be the whole truth.

Among the worst afflicted are many small farmers and simply to see them is to recognize that even in this present penury they have not lost their dignity. They tried to take care of themselves and did not appeal to government officials, who do not see any event seem previously to have excited in their subjects any high degree of expectation.

It might be thought that district officials, by constantly touring the villages in their charge, would themselves be found out what was going on. But those I spoke to left me with the dismal impression that touring was not much in their line. Indeed, I was solemnly warned by several of them not to attempt a 300-mile trip by main road, which in the event turned out to be acutely uncomfortable but not unendurable.

But impending disaster was also manifest in the townships, within sight of government offices. There were people standing in long lines outside grain shops to buy "broken rice"—the husks with tiny fragments of rice lodged inside them. Then the village women started selling those small gold ornaments which were their whole treasure. Then the farmers sold the livestock and the tools without which they cannot farm.

It is difficult to think rationally about the indifference with which these proceedings must have been observed or about the rapacity of those who did the buying at marvellously reduced prices.

But now Mrs. Gandhi herself has been to some of these red areas of Orissa and has finally conceded that what she saw was famine.

It is to be assumed that henceforward the big rescue operation will proceed with unrelenting zeal, that those ill-fortuned roads will fill up with food trucks and that nobody will heed those signboards urging a general go-slow, (OFEN Copyright)

There are ambitious youngsters trying to get higher education. On all hands the spectre of inflation rears its head. Everywhere we have labor disputes, and alarming imbalances of trade.

For heaven's sake, Canada, get cracking out of your apathy, and demand that the MPs you elected to Ottawa stop their sill squabbles, and get down to the proper business of governing this country regardless of sectional, provincial, local, or any other interests that try to take them away from this task!

UTTERLY FED UP!

Horrible Example
How much longer are the citizens of this rich country going to put up with the present disgraceful antics in Ottawa? There is no use in blaming the MPs. If the protests of this nation were strong enough, the government would get down to the work which we, the people, are paying them $18,000 and more per year to do, namely, govern this country.

Frugal Policy
This spring, being over the age of 70, I was called in for a driving test and a medical examination, before being issued a 1966 driver's licence. Now the local agent in Victoria, of an Eastern insurance company, requires another medical examination, before they will issue a minimum of $100,000 car insurance, which has increased 14 per cent. This insurance protects passengers, from accidents for which we might be responsible, but not any damage to our own vehicle.

Gentle Whimsy

Borrowed Time Finds Payne Outstanding

By F. D. WARD-HARRIS

To Bertolt Brecht, whose ideas have so enriched modern theatre, the stage was a place for protest and enlightenment, not illusion or escape. On Borrowed Time, now at the McPherson, is the antithesis of this view.

Paul Osborn's play is a gentle piece of whimsy that never taxes the brain and demands nothing of an audience.

An automobile accident kills both parents of a young boy who now lives with his elderly grandparents. An aunt, with an eye on the $15,000 insurance money, wants to adopt the boy. All resist her efforts.

Death (John Martin) appears, takes the grandmother and tries to take grandfathers but is thwarted by being tricked into climbing an apple tree from which it is impossible to escape until Gramps allows it.

LAST LAUGH

The aunt enlists the aid of a doctor and lawyer to commit Gramps to an insane asylum, but the old man has the last laugh.

It's a deceptively simple play. The timeless, fantasy-like structure calls for leisurely pace, but pace that is pedestrian, not static. To achieve impact in this kind of thing tight direction and first-class acting are essential.

In the current Bastion production the latter is achieved by Sam Payne. Apart from the need for aging makeup on face, teeth and hands, his Gramps cannot be faulted. He gives a delightful performance of immense charm, full of empathy. A joy to watch. He's the Gramps every small boy should have.

He, of course, carries the show. But he is required to shoulder too heavy a load. The gulf between his ability and that of the rest of the cast is too great, causing imbalance, the heavy cost of the star system. Joy Richards, well aged and addressed, made an endearing grandmother and one was sorry to see her die so soon. She is good but can be so much better if she will conquer the tendency to drop her head and voice at the end of sentences.

I liked Doris Exton as Aunt Demetria. Straitlaced, grasping, horrid. The all-black-and-jet beads setup exactly right.

BOY ENDEARING
That Peter Mannering has a way with children is evident in the boy's performance. Bobby Jones (aged 11) is most endearing and surprisingly audible in a long part.

Marcia (Barbara Dunn), who is never properly identified in the dialogue, looks right as a "nice" young girl. She exudes considerable charm, but charm is not enough. Miss Dunn needs firm direction in many aspects of her acting, such as posture, hands and, above all, reactions.

Her discovery of the dead grandmother simply was not credible. Loose direction is also apparent elsewhere, notably not enough business for the doctor; wrong character for the lawyer, who would be slightly pompous, hypocritical and quiet, not farcical and loud.

OPENING HITCHES
Visually the set is good, but the transparent outer wall should be remedied. The women's costumes, designed and executed by Barbara Dunn, are good; but the men's are too modern, like some of the props (dog collar, tobacco pouch, etc.).

On opening night there were technical hitches for which there can really be no excuse for a company familiar with its theatre.

Peter Mannering says in a program note that this play is a welcome relief from thinking. Whether this is good is debatable. But however you feel about that, the able and charming performance of Sam Payne is one not to be missed.

Pianist Scores—Twice

MELBOURNE, Australia. With a flourish, concert pianist Alfred Brendel completed the stunning closing passage of Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major, and rose to take his bow. But he couldn't stand. His coat tails were caught in the piano stool.

Watched by the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra, British conductor Sir Malcolm Sargent and a packed concert audience, he wrenched and pulled and tugged, but the tails held fast. So with another flourish the pianist slipped out of his coat and took his bow in his starched white shirt front.

The audience applauded both performances.

BLUEPRINT FOR YOUR SON'S LIFE

Good habits formed early in life are the foundation stones of sound character development. Parents cannot hand their son such ready-made habits on a silver platter. But fortunately, there is a way to accomplish this same objective: Provide the boy with an opportunity which will enable him to develop the habits himself. The best opportunity exists in newspaperboy training.

A boy with his own newspaper business develops initiative, tact, thrift, punctuality, and friendliness. He learns the tremendous inner satisfaction which can come from serving mankind in a worthwhile endeavor. It's no surprise that parents consider newspaperboy training as a fine blueprint for their sons' successful future.

Virginity Insurance Offered

LIMA (Reuters) — A Peruvian insurance company offered Tuesday to insure a young Italian girl against the risk of losing her virginity while working in West Germany.

A Serbian worker in Bolzano, North Italy, has asked for a policy for about $1,600 on the chastity of his 16-year-old daughter, who is going to West Germany to work as a maid.

Peruvian General Insurance Co. of Lima said has been sent a cable to Lloyd's in London extolling the virtues of Italian women and offering to accept the risk.

A film star's legs, the hands of a pianist and even the goal-scoring extremities of a footballer, why not insure the virginity of an inexperienced Italian girl crossing the Alps to seek her fortune in the land of Goethe and Nietzsche?

Two Shows Get Four

Negro Star on TV Winner of Emmy

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Cosby, first Negro actor to star in an American television series, won an Emmy award of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Sunday night for his co-starring role in the series I Spy.

Cosby co-stars in the series with Robert Culp, who also was nominated in the same category with Cosby, namely, outstanding continued performance by an actor in a leading role in a dramatic series.

The equivalent award for an actress went to Barbara Stanwyck of The Big Valley.

The Dick Van Dyke show, a series now off the air, and Bob

The Dick Van Dyke show's two leading stars, Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore, won the statuettes for leading actor and actress in a comedy series.

The other two awards went to Carl Reiner, producer, and to writers Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, for two episodes of the series, Coast-to-Coast, Bigmouth, and The Ugliest Dog in the World.

TWO EACH

Following closely was the series Bewitched, with two awards, and the Hallmark Hall of Fame, also with two.

The late Alice Pearce won the award as outstanding supporting actress in a comedy for Bewitched. William Asher won a statuette for directing the show.

Hallmark took one award with James Daly in Eagle in a Cage, for his performance in a supporting role, and O. Tambo, technical director for Inherit the Wind.

HAND BALLET

Burr Tillstrom, a puppeteer who is the voice and action of Kukla and Ollie, won an individual achievement Emmy for his hand ballet, Berlin Wall, in That Was The Week That Was.

Peking Expects War with U.S.

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Chinese foreign minister Chen Yi said in an interview published here Tuesday that a war between Red China and the United States "seems unavoidable."

He also said the Soviet Union "might side" with the United States and added: "One cannot trust the Russians."

Chen's statements were made in an interview with Ulf Brandell, foreign editor of The Dagbladet newspaper, who with seven other Scandinavian journalists were invited to China for a month's visit.

The journalists were told to deliver their questions in writing and later received written replies from the Chinese foreign ministry. They also held a news conference with Chen.

In the interview, Chen said that insofar as Peking is concerned the mutual Soviet-Chinese Aid Treaty of 1950 is still valid.

In the written reply, it was stated that if the Soviet Union "should be exposed to an imperialistic aggression and put up a fight, China would side with it and fight against the common enemy."

Canadian Aboard Lost Ship

AUCKLAND (Reuters) — All 29 crew members of the 2,485-ton New Zealand coal ship Kaituma were feared lost Tuesday in New Zealand's worst sea disaster in 59 years.

One of the crew members was a Canadian, radio operator Philip Mowatt of Vancouver.

The ship was believed to have sunk early Tuesday after striking the sand-covered rocks of the Pandora Banks off northern New Zealand in a fierce storm Monday night.

Attendance Shy of Quorum

MP's Mid-Week Club Back in Commons

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Tuesday-to-Thursday club is back in session. On Friday there were 123 empty seats in the Commons.

When the heat goes up, attendance goes down in the Commons, while MPs steal home to plant crops, sun-bake by the lakes, transact a little law or medical business, or just visit constituents.

The result is that on Friday, while the chamber was studying hundreds of millions of dollars of spending, attendance fell to 16.

That is short of the quorum of 20 that is needed to keep Parliament open.

But, as no one had drawn the speaker's attention to it, he didn't notice it.

If someone had challenged the power of Parliament to continue the speaker would have slowly called the roll and, presumably, MPs would have rapidly appeared from behind the drapes to make a quorum.

When the Commons met Tuesday, at 2:30 p.m., for the question period, there were 141 MPs present, and 123 absent.

A few hours later, there were 51 MPs present, as the Commons considered massive reorganization of government departments.

Social leader Robert Thompson said there were some legitimate absentees, but the high percentage of absenteeism was inexcusable.

"It is not that MPs must be back home doing business," he said. "It's just that the morale of back-benchers is so low."

Among the backbenchers, he said, there wasn't the will or the spirit to participate.

"It affects the backbencher worst of all. He is in a trap like the rest of us, a trap over which he has no control."

"He just has to sit as a spectator and watch the feuding between a few dominant personalities and the parties."

Mr. Thompson said the real offenders are the Liberals, with the Tories second.

There were times last week when there was not a minister of the government in the chamber.

Other times, the three front rows of the Tory benches were empty.

In the commonsense, too, it was the government that was the main offender. The opposition members have a far better attendance than the government.

Tuesday, the agriculture committee was unable to sit because of lack of a quorum.

Only ten of the 45 members of the committee were present, five short of the quorum.

Tory whip Eric Winkler said more Tories were present than all the other parties put together.

GOOD RECORD

He conceded that some of the westerners in the party were out looking after their farming obligations, but they could be present if needed.

In votes this session, he pointed out, the party had fielded between 85 and 95 of its 97 members.

MARCH-APRIL RECORD-BREAKING SALES OF AMERICAN MOTORS CARS PROVE: CANADIANS WANT
OVERALL QUALITY NOW!

The months of March and April combined for the best spring sales record in American Motors Canadian history! Proof that Canadians want the overall quality that American Motors cars give you now. Advanced engineering features other cars won't offer you for years to come. We say "Why wait for '67, '68, '69?" More Canadians than ever before have agreed. So will you, when you check these quality features in all American Motors cars.

Ceramic-Armoured Exhaust System. Not just sheet metal alone, but a ceramic-armoured coating exactly like the nose cone of a space rocket. Resists heat, corrosion, wear—season after season.

Single Unit Construction. Body and frame on all American Motors cars are welded together into one, single, solid unit for tremendous strength and safety. Result: a stronger, safer, longer-lasting car—a car free from rattles.

Double Safety Brakes. Not just one braking system, but two. If one set ever fails, the other stops you safely. (Double Safety Brakes have been an exclusive feature, at no extra cost, on all our models since 1962. Some other manufacturers have now announced that they will adopt this feature—but not until their 1967 models.)

World's best rustproofing. All our cars get a "bath." They're deep-dipped up to their rooflines in rustproofing compound six separate times. Then they're dipped again in primer and given a separate spray coat of primer. Then come three gleaming coats of Lustre-Gard super enamel. You get a beautiful finish and long-lasting protection from the ravages of rust.

Most powerful standard engines in their classes. Swift, smooth, seven-main-bearing sixes. Powerful, virile V8's. Take your choice.

Widest range of seating options in the industry. Luxurious reclining seats (buckets, if you want). Armrests and adjustable headrests. And fine-furniture coil springs in all our seats in all our models. (Only one other North American car offers this—and it's in the luxury class.)

Fibreglass roofliners and double door seals. A far cry from flimsy fabric roofliners and single door seals. Noise stays out. Drafts, winds, chills can't get in.

Attention to detail. American Motors offers the durability of plastic kick panels, all-metal rear-deck shelves, even ashtrays that roll out on ball bearings. Small details, yes—but they add up to overall quality.

Beautiful luxury fittings. A big, big selection! All the power equipment and features you want. And floor consoles. Thick-cut pile carpeting. Wire wheel discs. Walnut interior paneling. Houndstooth Check fabric. New vinyl patterns. Exciting styling in top-of-the-line Ambassador DPL, Rambler Rogue and Rambler Rebel.

New car quality. We believe that quality is what you build in—not what you add on. We build quality into all our cars from the beginning. We take the time. We take the trouble. We always have. We always will.

Used car quality. The exclusive quality and features that we build into our full line of cars mean that an American Motors used car is a better value and a better buy.

Restaurant Owner Catches Night Raider

A 19-year-old youth who broke into the Dutch Latch restaurant on the Malahat Monday night was caught by the owner just after he had rifled $7.70 from a cash register.

Bernard Genuet of Vancouver pleaded guilty in central magistrate's court Tuesday to breaking and entering, and was remanded to June 1 for a pre-sentence report.

Sgt. Verne Williams said Genuet gained entry through a window, took the money from a cash register, then went into another room where he was caught by the owner.

All the money was recovered, and Genuet was told.

Fluence Stoth of Milne's Landing was fined $500 by Magistrate J. A. Byers for dangerous driving.

Mrs. Stoth's pickup truck struck and killed seven-year-old Betty Ann Walker, 3857 Happy Valley, just after the girl got off a school bus near her home Feb. 14.

Magistrate Byers had found Mrs. Stoth guilty at an earlier hearing and remanded her to Tuesday for a pre-sentence report.

Mrs. Stoth was barred from driving anywhere in Canada for two years.

A passenger awakened Ernest Stevens from his slumber behind the wheel of his car Saturday when a policeman approached.

Stevens, 2721 Quadra, gave a breathalyzer reading of .21 per cent and pleaded guilty to having care and control of a vehicle while impaired.

He acknowledged a conviction in April, 1965, for impaired driving and was jailed for 21 days.

Leslie Verhaag left Jordan River and the province last December without telling his probation officer.

He was on probation at the time for obtaining clothing by fraud.

He was sentenced to four months in jail by Magistrate William Oster for the offence.

Paul de Luca agreed to tow a stock car three blocks Monday. But his licence was suspended and he was caught by police.

De Luca, 2512 Wark, pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was suspended and was fined $250.

Robert McArthur wasn't happy with the way his son Robert was getting on at school.

So he gave his son what he called a "leathering."

McArthur, 105 Old Island Highway, was found guilty of assaulting his son, causing bodily harm. He was remanded to June 1 for a pre-sentence report.

Court was told that 15-year-old Robert had a lump on his neck and bruising as a result of the "leathering."

As James Rank drove on the wrong side of Prospect Lake Road Saturday afternoon, a Saanich police car was coming toward him.

Rank, 11005 Jonquiere, pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $400. His licence was suspended.

John Rogers, 1218 St. David, was fined $400 and his licence was suspended for four months for impaired driving.

Court was told that Rogers disappeared into the night of April 27 while a Saanich policeman was shifting his car.

He had been stopped on the Patricia Bay Highway after he pulled in front of a passing police car.

Thomas Doyle, 961 Easter, was fined $35 for careless driving.

"I find I get around every bit as comfortably as I used to in a bigger car and I save about $20 a month in gas bills. Almost every client I pick up remarks on how quiet the car is and how nicely finished inside. That wonderful heater is a godsend too in this part of the country."

The world famous Datsun Sedan has now climbed to fifth place among all U.S. import cars. Dollar for dollar it offers better performance, more comfort, more extra equipment and higher standards of craftsmanship than any other economy compact on the market. See your Datsun dealer.

Mid-May Car Sales Up

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The eagerly-awaited production figures by members of the U.S. automobile industry for the middle third of May indicated that sales were better than in the initial 10 days of the month but still 15 per cent behind the levels of the corresponding period of 1965.

General Motors, which manufactures more than half the cars built in the U.S., said after the stock market closed that its sales were down 18 per cent from a year ago, but 29.9 per cent up from the previous 10 days.

The Ford group, Chrysler and American Motors also claimed a better mid-May performance than in the first 10 days of the month, but were all slightly below the record figures of a year ago.

The Ford division of Ford Motor said the "second May period was an all-time record for the period, but added that sales of its Lincoln-Mercury division were lower than a year ago.

The GM announcement, better but not good enough, may temporarily depress the New York stock market today, but the indication that there was more customer response than in the previous reporting period may on second thoughts provide some investment confidence.

YORKSHIRE WIDENS SCOPE

British Columbia's oldest financial institution, the Yorkshire Trust, has just completed its $50,000 renovation of its Victoria office on Fort Street.

Synchronising with the new look of its building, Yorkshire is also offering for the first time to its clients and friends, a personal savings service which will pay interest at the rate of 4 per cent on chequing account balance, and 4 per cent on savings deposit account.

Fred Pollard, vice-president in charge of Yorkshire Trust in Victoria, says the savings rate of 4 per cent is higher than that paid by any national savings institution.

BONDS COUPON

In addition, Yorkshire is offering everyone who opens an account before June 15 a bonus interest coupon worth $50 for a minimum deposit of $25 and $250 for a minimum deposit of $250.

SALES, PROFITS GROW

A six-month business report will be distributed to shareholders of Dominion Industries Ltd. shortly after a meeting of the board this week in Duncan.

Herb Pagan, president, says that sales and profits will show a jump from the previous year, and that plans for further expansions and projects will be contained in the forthcoming customer eligible to win one of letter.

The company's transportation and lumbering business are operating at full capacity. A recently-granted increase in the freight rate structure will come into effect on June 1 and will offset some of the increased costs of operations experienced in the past year.

NEWLY-APPOINTED MANAGER OF the Victoria branch of Yorkshire Trust is William A. Phillips, formerly with Montreal Trust and City Savings.

ALL CHANGED

The stone exterior of the Yorkshire Trust building on Fort Street has been retained but everything else including 1,000 in additional square feet of floor space has been changed.

The ground floor is used by the trust company and the top floor is rented to Yorkshire Securities which recently became an independent organization.

Yorkshire Trust was sold by the Norton family of Yorkshire, England, in October 1965, and the major shareholder of the company now is Power Corporation of Canada.

CASH AS WELL

If the merger of Pine Point Mines and Pyramid Mining Company is approved by the shareholders of the two companies, Pyramid proposes to wind up its affairs and distribute the greater part of its assets worth of $1,500,000.

Pyramid shareholders have been offered one Pine Point share for each five shares of Pyramid, and there is to be a cash distribution of 50 cents a share as well to Pyramid shareholders.

The remaining assets will be retained to form a new company, Pyramid Explorations, along with the Pyramid claims in the Highland Valley copper-molybdenum area of British Columbia.

Profit Shown

VANCOUVER (CP)—National Harbors Board operations in Vancouver showed a net profit of $1,317,139 in 1965, according to the NHB annual report. Total operating income was $5,935,367.

Two Firsts for Trail Riders

Entries from Colwood Trail Riders won two classes in Monday's parade. They took first in mounted event, shown above, and in class for two or more horses hitched to vehicle.—(Jim Ryan)

Parade Clouds Scattered

Saanich Sun Dancers Add to Day's Happiness

Will the real Canadians please take a bow?

Victoria Day parades, and untold thousands who took part in any way in the day's festivities, have all the good reason in the world to thank Vancouver Island's Indian sun dancers.

The three miles of parades and viewers had bleak skies at several points along the route. But the Indians came to the rescue, and the sun peeked out as they danced.

NO DAMPENING
And it was that kind of day all round.

Even though one of the horses in the parade bolted, nothing seemed able to damp down the high spirits of both viewers and participants.

The cavalcade took 2½ hours to roll past any given point—led by band and marchers from the Royal Canadian Navy and topped off by a show of antique cars coming last.

MARCHING THINGS

There was a total of 38 floats, 25 marching groups and 31 bands—groups of riders, clowns and gaily decorated cars. One American participant in the parade marched the route in a pair of thigh sandals.

He'd lost his shoes.

Another one had lost his hat.

Royalty Ignores Chill Wind

A chilly wind was ruffling her bouquet and her speech notes were lost, but 18-year-old Susan Smythe could hardly have been happier, as Mayor Trone set the Miss Victoria crown on her head Sunday afternoon.

The dark-haired Claremont high student, with her princesses, Pamela Middleton and Susan Wilkinson, arrived at the legislature in a regal procession of open cars, and was crowned amid a flourish of trumpets.

Her fellow-members of Victoria Girls' Drill Team formed an honor guard.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich introduced the dignitaries, including last year's Miss Victoria, Gloria Mills.

Police Grab Drug Caches

TORONTO (UPI)—Enough marijuana to make 23,000 cigarettes was seized in an early morning raid by Toronto police. They said they also found nine one-pound packs and 75 capsules of the hallucinatory drug LSD in a shed behind a downtown house. Three men and two women who were in the shed were arrested on drug charges. The marijuana was one of the largest hauls in Canadian history.

B.C. Offer to CN 'No Joke'—Bennett

SMITHERS (CP) — Premier Bennett said Tuesday his offer to buy the Canadian National Railways' line between Prince George and Prince Rupert is no joke. He told a press conference here he has "let the CNR know we're willing to handle" development of Prince Rupert as a port.

'DONE LITTLE'
He said the CNR has done little to develop the city and "appears more interested in facilities at Vancouver."

The premier's proposal, which he said is not yet contained in any official correspondence, would make Prince Rupert "a port to be rivalled up and down the Pacific."

He said if the national railway company would sell the portion of line, and its land at Prince Rupert, at a nominal price the provincial government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway would stimulate port development.

The highway toll was in excess of the prediction of 56 by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

Provincial totals were: Newfoundland 1; P.E.I. 3; N.S. 9; N.B. 1; Quebec 45; Ontario 43; Manitoba 5; Saskatchewan 4; Alberta 3; B.C. 11.

How come so many people come back to Metropolitan Life —time after time after time?

Only satisfied customers keep coming back for more.

And half of all the life policies we issue are bought by people who already have some Metropolitan Life insurance.

How come?

Mostly two things. The wide choice of policies we offer—and the help a Metropolitan adviser can give in choosing the right policies, and in working out a plan to meet specific, individual requirements.

He can do this because he's trained to give you the famous Metropolitan Family Security Check-Up. It's a complete, confidential analysis of your family's financial security picture that sometimes turns up assets you didn't even know you had, pinpoints gaps in your coverage—and finds economical ways to fill them.

The Metropolitan Family Security Check-Up is free. Ask your Metropolitan adviser.

There's no obligation... except to those you love.

Public Investigation of Morrison's Used Car Prices Urged!

THIS OFFER HAS 7 DAYS

Co-Hosts at Popular Victoria Used Car Lot Under Fire from Competition Due to Excessive Lowering of Used Car Prices!

George Blackburn and Stew Cumberland, Used Car Manager and Assistant Manager respectively, at Morrison Chevrolet, Oldsmobile in Victoria, were today singled out by irate competitors for their one-week price policy on Used Cars. The general public sided with the two men immediately. "Chaotic" . . . "Irresponsible" . . . "Tremendous" . . . "Courageous" were some of the words hurled in stormy interviews as brickbats and accolades alike were poured onto the two who have guided the fortunes of Morrison's Used Car Lot for several seasons!

"FAULT IS CBC's" SAYS BLACKBURN!

We can put the blame squarely on Canny British Columbians!

"We've always striven to give the public what it wants," commented George Blackburn. "In used car dealing, the popular idea among buyers is the lower the price, the better. Who are we to buck a sensible trend like that?" Mr. Blackburn continued. "We owe it to our customers to give the best possible deal, so what can be wrong about something wanted by so many people?"

MAYOR OF MAYFAIR STEPS IN . . . NAMES NOTED CRICKETER AND "FAIR PLAY" EXPERT TO MEDIATE

DOUGLAS B. FINLAYSON

"The Public should know all about this!" says good old Douglas B. Finlayson

When reached by long-distance telephone at his Hide-Away retreat on the shores of Swan Lake, Mr. Finlayson was quoted as saying: "I've been out of touch with things lately, but it seems to me if a little horse trading between friends results in mutual satisfaction, where's the harm? I intend to make a full report after I buy one of those low-priced used cars at Morrison's!"

However, Mr. Finlayson intimated he might think differently if the rush to Morrison's affects the Water Cross Business he operates as a sideline.

Scene of feverish activity during torrid 7 days as Morrison's slash prices in a one-week sale designed to sell 150 Used Cars to choosy Victorians

N. R. MORRISON President

President of Morrison's says he'll stand by his top producers throughout the dispute!

Another strong voice was added to the pro side of the argument as informed sources state that Newell R. Morrison, President of Morrison Chevrolet, Oldsmobile in Victoria, was completely behind the actions taken by his two executives. "The public wants to buy cars . . . I want to sell them," said Mr. Morrison with admirable simplicity. "The economy of the entire country, and particularly the area surrounded by Douglas, Finlayson and Burnside Streets in Victoria, is affected by the used car purchasing activity of the public!"

VILLAINS OR WHITE KNIGHTS?

George Blackburn, right, and Stew Cumberland, left, pictured as they made the decision to offer used cars at unbelievable, never-before-dreamed-of, low prices. Who can say they're wrong when their actions will bring happiness and joy to so many people?

Here's what new facilities will look like

Building Starts Soon

Sports Complex Given OK

Building will begin "as soon as possible" on the new Racquet Club of Victoria facilities which were approved at a general meeting of the club Tuesday night.

The club must be out of its present site, behind the shopping centre at Foul Bay and Fort, before Sept. 30, and club officials said Tuesday that they were hopeful of being into the new facilities by this fall.

The new site is at the corner of Gordon Head and Ruby Road. The membership overwhelmingly approved the proposed plan which had been developed by the club executive in conjunction with Dominion Construction.

The resolution providing for the new facilities was passed by an 88 per cent majority, and the resolution approving the $750,000 construction cost was passed.

The final resolution providing for a limited holding company was passed almost unanimously.

An amendment to the ice-facilities resolution, which would have delayed the ice until covering memberships had been sold, was defeated on a show-of-hands vote.

At Tuesday's meeting, it was announced that 116 pledges for membership (at $500 a family) in the new complex had been received. With a concerted drive, club officials hope to obtain another 400 or 500 memberships and thus help to finance the new facilities.

The first phase of the Gordon Head project will include nine tennis courts, a combination ice sheet and curling rink, five badminton courts, three squash courts, a lounge and perhaps a swimming pool.

Victoria Maple Leafs will be back next season playing a 72-game schedule in a seven-club Western Hockey League.

But wait. It's only probable, not definite. It may never become official and if it does, it likely won't be for almost a month.

League officials have already seasons will all be back, making dispersed at San Diego after a the WHL, a seven-club league two-day annual meeting almost with the inclusion of San Diego, dominated by the legal profes- If this is the way it works out, sion. And when they broke it up there will be a 72-game schedule yesterday afternoon the major starting on Oct. 13 and ending by the incoming National. The schedule will not include Hockey League expansion was any interlocking games with still no more than a guess. American Hockey League clubs.

Best guess at the moment is This has been discarded after that the six clubs which made one season, mainly because of up the league for the past two AHL disinterest.

Looks Like Seven to Buck

"That's the way it looks to Smythe, president of the parent me now — seven teams playing Toronto Maple Leafs, and he'll a 72-game schedule." Victoria probably will not say on manager Buck Houle reported the matter before June 22.

Asked if this could be taken special WHL meeting in San as a tacit admission that Francisco... If not immediately, Victoria Maple Leafs would follow the annual NHL meet- definitely return next season, ing in Montreal, June 13 and 14, Houle could do no more than which is expected to clear up sound hopeful.

"All I can say right now is And confused is what it is. At that it looks pretty good. I'd the moment, the only clubs have to say that there is a 90 which can be said definitely in per cent chance," he answered, the WHL, fold for next season.

The official confirmation, if it is San Diego, Portland and comes will come from Stafford Seattle.

Both Could Be Missing

Vancouver, which had been seen in the presence of eight talking about asking for a lawyers at the meeting.

Owners of the San Francisco Victoria are expected back but Seals, who also have the NHL, it is still possible that both franchise, which they will over- could be missing, are out of the new Oakland

Even more uncertain is the arena, are understandably WHL future of the San Fran- anxious to get their NHL cisco and Los Angeles clubs, organization working by remain- and this uncertainty is tied up ing in the WHL for the next in the NHL expansion which is season.

However, it is reported they are not too willing to pay any Both clubs want to operate in indemnity to the WHL for loss the WHL next season but it's all of territory. And the WHL could tied up in the matter of hardly allow them to operate territorial rights, a thorny prob- without an agreement in this lem which could still bring regard without giving up on its litigation. Proof of that was to claim for indemnity.

Los Angeles Bit Different

The situation in Los Angeles finding six clubs for his next season, much less seven.

Fresno made a franchise application at the WHL meeting, and while it could be possible that Fresno could yet be included, the league announce- ment was that Fresno would be given "serious consideration" for the 1967-68 season. There would almost certainly have to operate next season in Los Angeles or, by inference, relinquish his claims.

There were, however, some tangible results from the WHL meeting, not the least of which was San Diego Gulls signing Max McNab as their manager- WHL just might have trouble coach.

Gulls Red Wing Farm

McNab resigned his job as season will be allowed to have manager of Vancouver Canucks 15 players in addition to two to take the San Diego job and, it goalkeepers. The rookie of the season award will be given only signed an agreement to become if there are six or more rookies Wings.

Vancouver's "situation is still unclear but it's said that coach Bert Olmstead will make one long-standing rumor truth by becoming manager-coach of the Canucks.

There were a few rules changes, too. See you at Memorial Arena in rookie rule and clubs next October.

Laperriere Best NHL Defenceman

Jacques Laperriere, 24-year-old Montreal defenceman, has gone all the way to the top in three National Hockey League seasons.

He made it this season by being awarded the James Norris Memorial Trophy as the outstanding defenceman in the league.

Laperriere won the Calder Trophy as the outstanding rookie in his first NHL season and made the all-star team in his second. This season, his selection for the Norris Trophy followed a second successive berth on the all-star team.

Although missing the final 11 games of the season, Laperriere had enough of a margin in the first-half voting for an easy win. He had a total of 89 points, 62 in the first half, to beat out Chicago's Pierre Pilote by 35 points.

Next came Chicago's Pat Stapleton with 40 points, all in the second-half vote.

next Monday at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Two weekends of 10-mile qualifying runs, in which one driver, Chuck Rodde, was killed and seven cars crashed into the concrete retaining walls, ended Sunday with the field of 33 cars averaging 180.25 miles per hour. This was about four miles per hour faster than last year's average speed.

Victoria driver Billy Foster, who made the field on the first day of qualifying trials with a speed of 158.490, is back for his second crack at the 500. He finished 16th last year, despite the fact that he had to leave the race after 90 laps because of mechanical difficulties.

The qualifying record of 165.899 was set by Mario Andretti, United States Auto Club champion, on opening day May 14. He has the pole position.

Two drivers, Larry Dickson of Marietta, O., and Ronnie Duman of Dearborn, Mich., qualified on the last day Sunday by "bumping" slower cars.

Newcomer Dickson knocked out Dick Atkins of Hayward, Calif., and Duman bumped the car previously qualified by Art Pollard, Medford, Ore.

Twenty-four rear-engine Ford cars are in the lineup, eight rear-engine Offenhausers and one Offenhauser roadster, driven by Bobby Grim.

The track now is closed to competitors until Friday when it will be open for three hours for carburetion tests.

One driver, Unser, took his car away from the track area and was almost thrown out of the race by track steward Harlan Fangler. A repetition will result in suspension said Fangler.

The remaining time will be spent by competitors stripping down their machines, testing tires and guessing at fuel consumption next Monday.

"They'll all be ready when on that day when the starter calls, 'Gentlemen, start your engines.'"

Nanaimo Captures Tourney

Nanaimo O'Keefe's were just too much for six Victoria teams and two mainland clubs as the Up-Islanders walked away with the Stuffy McGinnis Memorial trophy in the holiday tournament staged by the Victoria Senior "A" Men's Softball league at Heywood Avenue Park over the weekend.

Nanaimo trounced North Vancouver in the final 9-0 on the strength of a fine two-hit pitching performance by Glen Langsette.

The winners won four straight to win the championship trophy.

Victoria Luckies were the only team to give the winners any trouble, as they held Nanaimo even (1-1) for five innings before Barry Smith homered in the sixth inning to put the game away.

North Vancouver reached the final Monday by eliminating Colony, 3-0, and then defeated Luckies, 4-3.

North Van 0-0 00 0- 0 2 2
Langsette and Calm; Nivette and Reynolds.
Colony 100 00 0- 2 2 2

Gorge Golfers In Near Sweep

Gorge Vale Golf Club likes to keep things in the family.

The B.C. parent and child tournament was held at the Gorge Sunday, and Gorge golfers came away with four of the six prizes.

Gorge greenkeeper Art Donaldson and his 13-year-old son David took the championship trophy with 83-11-72.

George and Ken Kulai won the father-son event, Mrs. M. Fry and Shirley Naysmith got the mother-daughter award, and Ivy and Bill Blunt took the mother-son category.

Only non-Gorge Victorians to win an event were Cy and Diane Phillips from Uplands. They took the father-daughter event.

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has prepared a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 128 (15) Walk Not At Intersection

When the word "walk" is exhibited at a place other than an intersection by a pedestrian traffic-control signal, a pedestrian may proceed across the roadway in the direction of the signal and has the right-of-way over all vehicles.

Big Cod Scores For Victoria

Biggest fish speared during the Victoria spear fishing contest Sunday was a 35-pound, 15-ounce cod.

The fish was speared by Lee McGregor of the Victoria Skin Divers. It was enough to put his club in third place in the overall reckoning behind Seattle Blackfish and Seattle Mud Sharks.

A special silver trophy went to 35-year-old mother of two, Doreen Burgess, of Vancouver.

The only woman among the 57 competitors, she speared a four-pound flounder off Ogden Point. Only wolf eel of the day, weighing 17-pounds, 12 ounces, was brought ashore by Armond Paquette of the Alberni Valley skin divers.

RESULTS

Final results of the contest, the third of its kind, were:

Highest aggregate — Al LeFavre (40 pounds, 9 ounces); 1st place novice, Ross Buck (14:01); 2nd, Keith Turpin (7:01); 3rd, Gerry Penner (4:12).

Armed Boy Battles Police

COBDEN, Ont. (CP)—An 18-year-old high school student held at least 10 policemen at bay with a five-gun arsenal for six hours before killing himself at daybreak Tuesday.

Police said Bryn Douglas Jones, 18, of Douglas, Ont., armed himself with three .22 calibre rifles, a shotgun and a pistol and went on a lead-slinging spree at the combined home and store of Harold Schroeder at a crossroads point called Kelly's Corner.

Mr. Schroeder had chased the young Grade 12 student out of the store earlier in the evening. Jones apparently went home, armed himself with his gun collection, and returned.

SHOTS IN STORE
Bullets whizzed around the store and through the windows and ceiling for several hours.

At one point, Mr. Schroeder chased the youth into the bush but lost him. Jones apparently returned while Mr. Schroeder was absent and opened fire inside the store again, terrorizing Mrs. Schroeder and her four children—girls 17 and 11 and boys 9 and 7—who were upstairs.

APPEALS VAIN

Ontario Provincial Police sent nearly a dozen men to the scene but they tried to talk him into surrendering.

His brother, David Jones, 20, also tried unsuccessfully to get him to surrender.

Police smuggled Mrs. Schroeder and her four children out by a side entrance while Jones was holding off a diversion in another part of the building.

About dawn, Jones, who had also fired on a police cruiser, slipped out and ran down a lane. A few minutes later, he fired a shot and killed himself. The boy's father, Gerald Jones, a security guard at the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont., was working the midnight shift at the time. He was summoned home and arrived about the time of the boy's death.

Girl Died

Torture Duo Get Life

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Two defendants in the Sylvia Likens torture slaying drew life sentences in the Indiana women's prison Tuesday and three others were sentenced to the Indiana reformatory for terms of two to 21 years.

Mrs. Gertrude Baniszewski, 37, and her daughter, Paula Marie, 18, got life sentences. The mother was convicted of first-degree murder and the daughter of second-degree murder.

The reformatory terms were handed Mrs. Baniszewski's son, John Stephen, 13, and two neighbor-teenage boys, Richard Hobbs, 16, and Coy Hubbard, 15, by Judge Saul I. Rabb of Marion County criminal court.

Sylvia, a 16-year-old girl boarder in the Baniszewski home, died Oct. 26 last after a series of beatings, abuse and branding detailed in the five-week trial which led to the convictions.

NEW YORK (AP)—State Secretary Rusk said Tuesday night the United States is ready to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war whenever there is anybody "with whom to negotiate peace."

"When the other side becomes convinced that it cannot achieve its purpose by force, peace will come," he told the Council on Foreign Relations in a prepared speech.

"You are familiar with our far-reaching, persistent efforts to bring the other side to the peace table. We shall continue these efforts."

"I remain prepared to go to Geneva immediately whenever there is anybody there with whom to negotiate peace."

Buy now—and go broke later?

A generation or two ago, most people had a pay-as-you-go philosophy about spending money. Today, things are different. There's the house to be paid off, as well as a new car, a washing machine, and maybe even a color TV set. The June issue of Reader's Digest takes a look at how people—and governments—are keeping their budgets these days. Is it an irresponsible way to live—or the only way? You can learn all about the new attitude toward "getting into debt" in the new Reader's Digest, on your newsstand today.

"But I am confident that the United States also will continue to do what may be necessary to assure that aggression in Southeast Asia does not succeed," Rusk pointed to what he called "significant" changes within the "Communist world" and said: "We welcome the evident desires of most of the governments and peoples of Eastern Europe for more normal relationships with the nations of the West. The president hopes very much that Congress will grant the broader authority he has requested in negotiating trade agreements with those nations. We are glad that the terror has been lifted in so many of the Communist states. We have welcomed trends toward more personal freedom."

However, Rusk said the leaders of the Soviet Union and China still "are committed to promotion of the Communist world revolution—even while they disagree bitterly on tactics."

Says Loffmark

Japanese Ships Revolutionary

Trade and Commerce Minister Loffmark says the Japanese are building such huge bulk carriers these days they are revolutionizing the shipbuilding industry.

"The Japanese have just finished building a 150,000-ton bulk carrier and they have a 200,000-ton one on the ways," he said Tuesday.

"Now they are negotiating with an American oil company to build three 300,000-ton tankers which will travel between the Middle East and Europe."

"Each of these three ships would be so large that you could play two football games simultaneously on their decks," Mr. Loffmark said.

Top-Priority Improvements

Crucial Hospital Needs Will Require $325,000

Hospital planners told municipal leaders Tuesday that they need $325,000 for top-priority buildings and equipment which they must have to maintain medical services in Greater Victoria.

The civic officials not only raised no objection, but agreed to go along with the needs of the hospital planning council, providing they are given enough warning to raise the money without straining civic seams.

George Masters, Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator, said costs had gone up about seven per cent since the planners submitted their first figure in April.

NEED DETAILS

Mayor Toome and the Reeves of Oak Bay and Esquimalt called the hospital authorities in to get specific facts and figures as to what is needed in the way of finances and when they must be provided.

Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich said the had made some enquiries in Sidney and North Saanich and felt that these municipalities would go along with the cost-sharing, which the Greater Victoria municipalities will do, to provide the necessary money.

Thomas Bradley of Rest Haven Hospital said he felt the northern communities would go along.

TIMING

"It seems to me that there is a growing community conscience in this matter of hospitals and their needs. I am reasonably certain that these communities will participate," he added.

Reeve Allan Cox of Oak Bay said it was a matter of timing and phasing the whole program. It was vital that municipalities have warning of what they were expected to provide.

Highest priority work includes a new boiler house, a major laboratory addition and a new school of nursing, all for Royal Jubilee. Total cost would be more than $1,000,000, of which the municipal share would be

Winning Artist Too Numb to Sign

Cold Hand Holds Cash

When 20-year-old Kim Michelsen finished his painting on the fence at the new provincial museum recently, he didn't bother to sign it properly. "I had fun working on it, and I didn't think I'd win anything," he said Tuesday.

That was after learning that his op-art figure of a girl in a checkered dress had won the Colonist's $100 first prize in Victoria's first fence art competition.

Kim, of 550 Ridley, a cashier in a downtown clothing store, finished his painting on a day that left him so cold he could barely paint his initials on the panel.

"They were so shaky that I rubbed them off with a rag, figuring I'd come back later and sign it properly. But I never did," he said.

His initials, KLM, looked like KRN to a panel of four judges who tried to make them out when they reached their decision Saturday.

Mr. Michelsen and most other winners of various categories of art will receive their prize money Thursday in a brief ceremony at the Colonist.

Another winner not identified Saturday was Paul Bishop, 1560 Oakcrest Drive. Mr. Bishop, 18, a Grade 12 student at Mr. Douglas high school, executed the "most moving" work, a panel covered with nothing but pairs of black, maroon and white feet.

George Richardson, who won third place in the seascape division, lives at 2890 Inez.

School Parking Spurs Row

By JIM BRAHAN

Saanich municipal hall rocked Tuesday night when the municipality's lands and planning committee met head-on with a delegation of the Greater Victoria School Board.

Battle lines were drawn between the two over the question of off-street parking for high school students in Saanich.

Council claims the students' cars should be off the streets, and wants parking space allocated on school property on the basis of one parking space for every 10 classroom seats, and has prepared a bylaw to enforce its wish.

The school board says that off-street parking for students is not wanted nor will it be encouraged by the board.

"The function of roads is to facilitate the movement of traffic, not to provide a storage space for vehicles," Saanich planner Thomas Loney told the committee.

The cost of acquiring additional land and its servicing will be charged directly to the taxpayers in the current year, the board retorted.

The school which triggered the controversy is the proposed Reynolds Road high school to be built shortly.

The main argument was whether council had control of all zoning regulations within the municipality including school sites, or does the school board have full power over its property within any municipality.

Both parties thought they were right. Committee cited the Municipal Act as its basis for argument, and the school board countered with the Provincial Schools Act.

Council 'Autocratic'

Saanich council has too often acted "autocratically," school solicitor John Woods told the committee.

He said it was the board's opinion that the municipality's offstreet parking bylaw was unreasonable. The parking area would be a non-shareable item with the provincial government, and the school district would have to assume the cost.

He said it was the power of the school board to select school sites.

"The board could expropriate municipal land," he said. This, however, had not been tested as yet, he added.

Reeve Hugh Curtis termed the school board's presented brief as an arrogant document.

"The wording is hardly designed to have us sit around the table and discuss the subject," he said angrily.

Coun. Edith Gunning said she, as an ex-high school teacher, had seen the problem of student parking.

"Why should people who live near schools have their driveway clogged with cars?" she asked.

"Does the municipality have the right to zone and regulate for betterment of the citizens of Saanich?" queried Coun. Leslie Passmore.

"I don't see how any government can say to zone to protect residents from community halls, motels, and others, but not around schools."

Check with Province

"I can't see how that kind of discrimination can be allowed," he suggested that council check with the municipal affairs department and also the education department to see if it had the power to rezone school property.

The reeve pointed out the traffic problems created around schools in other locations by on-street parking.

The school board countered that the Reynolds school site was bought in 1958 on a government cost shared basis, and it was against regulations to put in the student parking space.

"We have to live within the rules," trustee Peter Burn said. "It looks like the rules should be changed."

He agreed that greater use should be made out of school buildings.

"They are wasteful buildings when they are only used for 2,000 hours a year," he said.

Trustee Burn said that maybe Saanich is more far-sighted than the Victoria council in trying to get cars off the streets from around schools, but the board was strapped by its rules and regulations.

After much discussion the committee agreed to recommend to council that the bylaw be reconsidered and the offstreet parking clause be removed until the controversy can be ironed out by meetings with municipal and school board officials.

Bulk carrier spilled on Quadra

Driver Hurt

Board Wrecks Tanker

A piece of lumber dumped a large tanker carrying about 2,000 gallons of milk Monday afternoon and critically injured the driver.

George Rose, 56, 1360 Craigflower, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with severe head injuries.

PIECE OF WOOD

Saanich police said Mr. Rose was driving the tanker on Quadra by Kenneth Street when a piece of wood on the back of another truck apparently struck the tanker and Mr. Rose.

The tanker slammed into a ditch, snapping off a utility pole. Only part of the milk load was lost at the tanker lay on its side.

HEAVY DAMAGE

The other truck, carrying a load of scrap lumber, was driven by Arthur Owens, 1562 Elgin, Saanich police said. The tanker, owned by J. W. Ganderton Transport Ltd., of Nanaimo, received about $10,000 damage.

Fired Official's Statement Stays Secret at Sidney

Sidney village commission refused Tuesday night to second a motion by Commissioner W. W. Gardner that dismissed deputy clerk Glenn Fell be given the opportunity to make public his statement to the secret session of the commission.

Chairman A. W. Freeman said by the commission to make public his statement to the secret session. None of the other commissioners came forward to second the motion.

Mr. Freeman said it would be up to Mr. Fell and not to the commission to release the document.

Mr. Gardner moved that Mr. Fell be given the opportunity by the commission to make public his statement to the secret session.

At the meeting, Mr. Fell made a statement, and Mr. Gardner said that the statement should be released if Mr. Fell agreed.

"We will all know how the taxpayers feel about this at the next election."

"I think they should be given the opportunity now to hear the statement. I would not like this motion to uphold secret documents."

University of Victoria student leaders were told Tuesday night that their request for a $10 reduction in tuition fees has been refused.

Student Council president Stephen Bigsby announced the news following a two-hour meeting of the council with president Dr. Malcolm Taylor and other representatives of the administration.

The students had asked for a token $10 fee cut after the government announced it would grant the university slightly more than it asked for this year.

TWO REASONS

Tuition now totals $428 per year. Last winter many students for a time withheld a $56 fee increase imposed in 1965.

Mr. Bigsby said two main reasons were given for the university's refusal to reduce fees.

Bursars of the three public B.C. universities recently reaffirmed their policy of holding fees at the same level as last year, he said.

And administration spokesmen said they had already pared their 1966-67 budget by reducing allocations for science equipment, added staff, library acquisitions and salary increases.

Joint Panel To Hear Park Issues

City horsemen and nature-lovers have reached agreement on the use of the Thetis Lake Park.

At a special meeting Tuesday at city hall, attended by more than 100 people and chaired by Ald. Robert Baird, the two groups, who have been in dispute for some time, agreed to set up a panel to air grievances.

Initial agreement was reached on sharing the park facilities by the representatives of city horsemen and the Thetis Lake Park nature sanctuary.

Elected to the panel were sanctuary representatives Dr. L. J. Clark, Eric Garman and Harold Matthews, and horsemen A. A. Mather and Eric Pallister.

Elk Lake Shores Thronged

Canoe Races Big Draw

A crowd that exceeded all expectations watched 11 war canoes battle it out on Elk Lake Monday in the Saanich Diamond Jubilee Race.

"We never expected anywhere near that number of people," said a race spokesman, who estimated a crowd of at least 9,000. There were approximately 3,000 cars, parked all along the lake and over the hill toward Cordova Bay.

At the height of a traffic jam made up of cars coming from Victoria, traffic was backed up from the lake almost to Royal Oak, approximately two miles.

"They (the Indian bands) want to make it an annual event. It appears to be what the people want. I imagine Saanich council will be giving the matter serious consideration," the spokesman said.

First three canoes were the Mermaid, from the Shell Beach band from south of Nanaimo; the St. Theresa from the North Vancouver band, and the Sweet Daddy from the North Vancouver band.

Ernie George of the Burrard band won the singles competition and he and his brother Dale took the doubles competition.

Races at Brentwood Sunday were held under much better weather conditions than Saturday, when nine canoes entered and only three completed the choppy course.

Winner was the Mermaid; second was the St. Theresa and third the Seven Sisters, owned by the Musqueam band.

Heirloom Sapphire Ring For 'Something Old'

Swiss lace over silk tulle formed the floor-length gown worn by Gayle Leslie Deeks when she became the bride of John Martin Wael of Calgary, Saturday afternoon. Her empire-line gown was styled in train and the bodice featured a round neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. "Something borrowed" from matron of honor Mrs. G. P. Williams was her veil of silk illusion net, which was held by a rosette headpiece of organza. An heirloom sapphire ring, "something old," was the bride's only jewelry accent. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Rev. Robert Holmes officiated at the ceremony in Central Baptist Church, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Deeks, 1238 St. David Street, and the son of Mrs. Joyce Wael, Calgary, and the late Ivor Wael.

The junior choir sang "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven," and bridesmaid Miss Pamela May sang "The Wedding Prayer," accompanied by organist Miss Phyllis Hick.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Williams, Miss May, and Miss Judy McLeod wore floor-length skirts of pink peau de chamois with matching blouses with deeper tones of pink embroidery. They carried cascade bouquets of white gladiolus.

Junior bridesmaids were the Misses Shirley Wael and Deborah Deeks, sisters of the bride. Their two-piece ensembles were floor-length of pink-toned peau de chamois with embroidery. Pink and white gladiolus were in their colonial bouquets. All wore headpieces of self-fabric roses and tulle.

Kenneth Wael was best man for his brother and guests were ushered by David Deeks and Ronald Shaben.

At a reception following in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, a three-tier wedding cake made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. R. Kenney, centred the bride's table. A. E. Smithson proposed the toast to his niece.

For travelling on honeymoon motoring to the United States and Calgary, the new Mrs. Wael wore a pink suit and hat with white accessories, topped with a teal blue coat. A corsage of pink carnations completed her outfit.

Couple to Live In Vancouver

Following a honeymoon trip touring in the United States, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. William John Pogson will make their home in Vancouver. The bride, the former Marlene Yvonne Daniel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daniel, 1240 Newport Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Helen Pogson of Penticton.

Metropolitan United Church was decorated with floral arrangements of yellow and white for the ceremony. Saturday afternoon, at which Rev. E. Laura Butler officiated.

Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" was played as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father and during the ceremony, soloist Keith Henderson sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

A lace jacket, styled with three-quarter-length sleeves, topped the bride's gown of peau de sole which was made by her maid of honor, Miss Susap Lewis. A full train extended from a bridal bow at the waistline of the floor-length sheath gown. Her veil misted to chapel-length from a single fabric rose headpiece and she carried a white Bible, topped with yellow roses. Jewelry accents were her mother's necklace of blue sapphires and a wedding ring belonging to the groom's mother, which fulfilled the tradition of "something old."

Miss Lewis and bridesmaids, the Misses Judy Gonnason and Irene Christie wore sleeveless sheath gowns of yellow crystal. Completing the outfits were single-toned rose headpieces, edged with veils, and bouquets of white daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cope Wed in Esquimalt United

Esquimalt United Church was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Roberta Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Booth, Fraser Street, and Gilbert Steven Cope, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cope, Esquimalt, B.C.

Rev. Harwood B. Husey officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Booth gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride chose a floor-length gown styled on empire lines. The elegant crepe skirt was attached to a lace bodice. Tiny buttons accentuated the cuffs of the lily point sleeves and extended down the back of the bodice. A floor length train extended from the shoulders.

Her chapel length veil misted from a cluster of fabric roses and seed pearls. Her jewelry was a cultured pearl necklace and ear rings, the gift of the groom and for something old she wore her grandmother's engagement ring. Red roses were in her bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. J. C. Booth was in a gold lace, empire style dress. It featured lace ruffles at the neckline and on the sleeves. She carried white marigolds.

Miss Beth Cope, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid in an olive green dress similar to the bride-elect and her mother. Her flowers were yellow marguerites.

Mr. D. Franklin was best man and Mr. J. C. Booth and Mr. H. E. Cope were ushers.

The reception was held at Hollywood House where a cake made by the bride's mother and decorated by Miss D. Rogers, Esquimalt, was served.

Leaving on a honeymoon in Washington and Oregon the new Mrs. Cope donned a pink tulle-trimmed suit with blue and beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope will make their home in New Westminster. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Smallbones, Brooks, Alta.; Mrs. S. Jensen, Tiley, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cope and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cope, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hill and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wickham and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. D.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have eight lovely children. Last night we were discussing the eldest. She is a very attractive girl and is doing exceptionally well in her studies. Naturally we are proud of her.

In the course of the conversation, my husband leaned back in his chair and said, "Yes, she is a lovely girl. And nothing would please me more than to see her grow up to be just like my sister."

My husband's sister is a fine person and we are good friends, but I was deeply hurt by his remark and I told him so. He said I was silly and that you would agree with him. Do you?

— PEACHES
Dear Peach: No, I don't. Your husband was tactless in the extreme. I wonder how he would have liked it if your eldest son had been under discussion, and you had said, "I hope he grows up to be just like my brother." Ask him and see what he says.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 20-year-old daughter phoned from college to say she was bringing a young man home for the weekend. She said she was considering becoming engaged, which was a surprise to us.

When we met them at the bus depot Friday night we were shocked that the boy didn't have a suit. He came only with the clothes on his back. He had no pajamas, no clean shirt — not even a shaving kit. He asked my husband if he could borrow his razor because "he didn't have time to pack anything."

We had relatives over Saturday and the boy didn't even stand up when he was introduced to aunts and uncles. His manners were appalling and his conversation was so stupid I couldn't understand what our apartment. He wants me to leave this nut house and move in with him. We are the only kids in the family so I wouldn't be leaving any little brothers or sisters.

The constant yelling and fighting is making a wreck of me. Please tell me what to do. — SHAKING
Dear Shaking: Call Alcoholics Anonymous. (Look in the phone book.) Find out where the next meeting of Alateen will be held. After you attend six meetings, if you still want to move out of the house I say O.K., provided you are not considered a minor in your state.

Carol Mann Honored

Miss Diane Frampton recently held a kitchen shower in her Ocean View Road home in honor of Miss Carol Mann whose marriage to Mr. J. Shepherd will take place shortly.

A white carnation corsage was presented to the bride elect. Gifts were placed in a decorated laundry basket placed under streamers and wedding bells. Guests were Mrs. G. Mann, Mrs. G. Shepherd, Mrs. C. Reichert, Mrs. B. Shepherd, Mrs. B. Aak, Mrs. A. Shepherd, Mrs. H. Daniel, Mrs. M. Shepherd, Mrs. J. Frampton and the Misses A. Shepherd, L. Mann, E. Shepherd, F. Mann and E. University Students Helping In Underdeveloped Countries

The Canadian University Service Overseas was the subject of a talk given by Prof. J. C. M. Ogelsby of University of Victoria at the recent meeting of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Vancouver Island Branch, in the Empress Hotel.

Prof. Ogelsby told the society that CUSO is a project without parallel in this country. Through it students are taking their skills to underdeveloped countries and generally in the Commonwealth. He explained that the countries affected desire this service and now the demand is much greater than the supply.

The speaker pointed out that the scheme was originated in 1961 and since then the number of volunteers has grown from 40 to 400 with 600 expected in the field next year. CUSO is also designed to attract other persons from 19 to 75 years of age who are capable and willing to undertake the two-year assignment and have the necessary qualifications.

Eight students are going overseas from Victoria this year. Their return passage is paid by CUSO and they also receive a seven-week orientation course at a Canadian university.

Dr. Ogelsby told the meeting that after completion of a two-year period the volunteer is given a demobilization grant of approximately one month's salary. During the period of service the volunteer is paid by the country concerned at the highest prevailing rate. The Canadian University Service Overseas is a corporate Canadian organization financed by private contributions and one from the federal government.

The speaker was introduced by Maj.-Gen. C. R. Stein, honorary president, and thanked by Mr. John H. F. Turner, president of the Central Council, visiting from Ontario. Mrs. Lillian Flanders and Mrs. William Rae poured tea during the refreshment hour which followed.

The couple will make their home at 2330 Cook Street.

Travelling from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mitchell, Dr. Sydney Crowhurst, Miss Lois Golby, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Whitfield and Ian of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Johnston, Kirkland, Wash.; Mrs. May McKenzie and Mrs. Agnes Harvie from Renton, Wash.

McNaught-Grimes

Wed in Salt Lake City

Of interest in Victoria is news of the recent wedding of Nancy Carolyn Grimes and David Ernest Gerald McNaught which took place in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd P. Grimes of Wilmington, North Carolina and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gerald McNaught of Victoria. President Nathan Eldon Tanner of the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints officiated at the ceremony in the Salt Lake City Temple.

The couple flew to Wilmington, N.C., where a reception was held at the Wilmington Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The bride wore a gown of peau de soie with ruffled neckline and softly pleated skirt. Alencon lace appliques and seed pearls highlighted the fitted bodice, skirt and train. She wore a tiered veil of illusion which was attached to a crown of fabric roses pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and the groom wore a white tuxedo, centred with a white orchid.

Mrs. J. D. Flowers of Wilmington, matron of honor, chose a full length dress of yellow peau de soie with yellow headpiece. Mrs. S. Humphrey and Miss Maureen Walsh of New Bern, N.C., were in identical green gowns. The attendants carried yellow roses.

Best man was Mr. Anthony Masti of Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. J. Dwain Flowers of Wilmington and Mr. Michael V. Milligan of Baytown, Tex., were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. McNaught are making their home in Wilmington.

Rev. Atkinson Speaks Of Parish in the Bush

The difficulties of having a parish in the bush was the subject of a talk given to the Diocesan Board, Women's Auxiliary to the Anglican Church at the recent meeting in St. Luke's parish hall.

Rev. Patrick Atkinson described life at his Port Hardy parish where he must sometimes travel over 100 miles to meet a small congregation. Occasionally his long journeys end in failure as there is no one to meet him. The roads are usually rough logging tracks. Often he must rely on rides from loggers.

Rev. Atkinson was born and educated in India. Funds for his schooling were provided by the Women's Auxiliaries and Sunday Schools of Canada. He arrived in Canada in 1957. Rev. Atkinson found he was constantly being passed over for job promotion in India because of his Christian beliefs.

Concluding his talk Rev. Atkinson said "You cannot do this work unless you know why you are a Christian."

The guest speaker was introduced by Miss D. M. Lucas, chairman of Comox deanery.

Disbursements for the past month totalled $645.35, reported treasurer Miss Dora Brown, including a special donation of $75 to assist a student in Ajanta, India. Other donations were $50 to Camp Columbia and $50 to St. Chad's Home for Boys. Mrs. R. Osler announced that Captain and Mrs. Walker, Toronto, members of the church army would be foster parents at the home.

A shortage of male helpers for boys' camps this year was noted by diocesan youth worker Miss Gillian Clarke, who added response had been good for the appeal for women helpers.

Retiring life members chairman Mrs. R. O. Taylor announced that Mrs. R. Clegg, Cobton, would be her successor, following the corporate communion at St. Alban's. Retiring Junior Auxiliary secretary Mrs. L. Small reported on the three deanery JA rallies and of the contests for quilts, table decorations and cakes. The latter were donated to the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage.

Plans were discussed for the dominion annual meeting to be held in Christ Church Cathedral, beginning June 6.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Visitor Honored

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Breerton entertained at dinner recently in honor of Mr. T. C. Douglas. Other guests were Mr. Fred Bevis, president of the Victoria NDP Association, and Mrs. Bevis and Dr. Harvey Richardson.

Volunteer firemen fight losing battle to save school

School Blaze Set?

LAKE COWICHAN — Police here believe there is a strong possibility of arson in a fire which roared through the J. H. Boyd Elementary School here Monday afternoon.

William Jensen, who lives near the school, spotted smoke billowing from a classroom window. He ran to the school and found flames pouring from a stairwell.

When his efforts with a fire extinguisher failed, he turned in an alarm to the fire department.

Suspicion of arson came when Mr. Jensen said he saw oil spilled over doors in the three-room school.

He also reported hearing two explosions in the building.

Owen Jones, an inspector from the office of the provincial fire marshal at Vancouver, is examining the site along with RCMP officers.

HOLIDAY
Temporary holidays will be enjoyed by 30 kindergarten and 60 Grade 1 pupils until alternate accommodation can be found.

It is expected classes will start May 30 at the United Church Hall.

This is the second mysterious school fire here in recent years. On Jan. 22, 1964, the Lake Cowichan High School had its gymnasium and 14 of 20 classrooms destroyed by fire that followed an explosion in the gym.

The blast at that time rocked the school just minutes after students had been dismissed from a physical education class. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000. Pupils were accommodated in trailer classrooms and halls in that area.

MEETING
School board chairman A. B. Greenwell called a special meeting of the trustees for Tuesday night.

Loss at the elementary school is estimated at $80,000.

Space Needle Promoter Dropping Harbor Plan

Space needle promoter A. L. Bristow said Tuesday that he and his colleagues had not given up the idea of a 325-foot sky-deck tower for Victoria, but they were convinced that the Inner Harbor was not the place for it.

"We are investigating several alternate sites, but as yet have not chosen one," the Victoria businessman said.

He added that he was surprised at the intensity of opposition to his plan. He was convinced, however, that it was not the idea of a tower that his opponents were against, but the proposal that it be located in the Inner Harbor area.

Mr. Bristow said he would be informing city council that he and his colleagues were no longer interested in obtaining the four city-owned lots on Belleville Street which he had selected earlier as a site for the tower.

Opposition to the tower crystallized recently when the Victoria Visitors Bureau came out flatly against locating it in the Inner Harbor area. It is also understood that the Advisory Planning Commission would recommend against the plan to city council on Thursday.

Mr. Bristow said Tuesday that he understood members of city council were against the idea, six to two.

Sunset Ceremonies Planned by Cadets

Ten sunset ceremonies have been scheduled between Friday of this week and June 24, according to a program planned by the United Cadet Services Committee.

In a letter to Ald. Robert Baird, chairman of city council reception committee, R. E. Crawley, RCA cadet corps captain stated that the ceremonies would be held on the legislature lawn.

Schedule as outlined:
May 27 — RCSCC Rainbow Cadet Corps; June 3 — Canadian Scottish Cadet Corps; June 7 — Queen's Own Rifles Cadet Corps; May 27 — RCSCC Rainbow Cadet Corps; June 3 — Canadian Scottish Cadet Corps; June 7 — Queen's Own Rifles Cadet Corps; June 10 — 5th (BC) Field Battery RCA Cadet Corps; June 13 — Kinmen Air Cadets; June 14 — Queen's Own Rifles Cadet Corps; June 17 — RCSCC Rainbow Cadet Corps; June 20 — Kinmen Air Cadets; June 21 — Canadian Scottish Cadet Corps; June 24 — 5th (BC) Field Battery RCA Cadet Corps.

Future Teacher Ottawa-Bound

David Gillett, an 18-year-old future teacher, is the fourth Greater Victoria university student chosen to attend a four-day leadership institute in Ottawa May 30.

Mr. Gillett, 3547 Richmond, who enters second-year education studies at the University of Victoria next fall, is being sent by the Student United Nations Association in Canada.

Second campus representative will be Jan Hoosen, 1039 Deal Street.

Victoria students representing Notre Dame University in Nelson will be Maile Thomas, 7291 West Saanich Road, and Dennis Hartman, 2315 Fernwood Road.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly fat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearance and active.

For Handicapped Children

Mandatory Schooling Urged

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO—The B.C. Association for Retarded Children wants the provincial government to make mandatory the education and training of all educatable and trainable mentally handicapped children.

The resolution submitted by the Burnaby delegation to the ninth annual convention of the association, which ended here Sunday, recommended the School Act and other legislation should be amended to allow "every child to develop" his potential to the maximum.

The government will be asked to recognize in its grant structure the additional cost of such education.

WORKSHOP AID

To help local communities operating sheltered workshops, approval in principle was given to a Duncan resolution calling for aid to workshops training the mentally retarded.

Campbell River received backing for its resolution requesting the provincial association to promote routine tests in babies for phenylketonuria and other metabolic diseases which may cause mental retardation.

TREATMENT

A Mission City resolution asking the provincial government to make special provision for the examination and treatment of eyes, teeth, speech and hearing of the retarded was endorsed.

Courtesy received backing for its resolution asking the government to assist local communities who want to set up workshops for adult retardates.

Upper Fraser Valley received approval for its resolution to petition the senior governments of Canada and the United States

Package Search Called Off

The search has ended for an alleged baby-trapped package believed to have been mailed by Paul Chartier, who died when a bomb blast ripped a washroom near the Commons chamber Wednesday.

RCMP Superintendent G. R. Engel, head of the civil investigation bureau here, said Tuesday "unfounded" confusion over names caused people to think the package had been mailed to Chartier's wife, who lives under another name at Rialto, B.C.

"The publicity and excitement attached to Chartier were probably responsible for a mistake in the names being made," he said.

Bored? You don't have to be

Nobody is born bored. But somewhere, between childhood (when even a piece of ice cream can seem exciting) and adulthood (when ice cream only means extra calories), our enthusiasm begins to fade—and we become bored. The June issue of Reader's Digest tells you why it happens—and how you can avoid being bored, even when what you're doing may not seem very exciting. Learn the secret of sparking new enthusiasm in your life—in the new issue of Reader's Digest, on sale today.

Good Judgment Lacking

By E. D. WARD-HARRIS

The 1966 Dominion Drama Festival was not a success. Three good productions out of seven is a poor average and choice of four plays beyond the capabilities of available casts is inexcusable. But there was an even more profound cause for the festival's failure.

A festival of this kind is only as good as its adjudicator and it was generally felt, Marjorie Goring, left much to be desired. In retrospect, one recalls not the plays or the players but the adjudicator, and Mr. Goring departed without leaving a legacy of inspiration.

He treated the festival as a showcase of plays, not players. Night after night he gave a lengthy, often ponderous lecture on the play and playwright in question, followed by a hurried, indeterminate summing-up of the performance.

Bitter Comment

Surely his task was to help Canadian theatre, to analyze, criticize and above all inspire. To leave us something to think about and work for, in this he failed.

It is wrong, in the circumstances, to plunge into detailed analysis of play and playwright to the almost total exclusion of everything else.

There was a bitter comment among the actors who had come a long and expensive way to hear judgment in Victoria on their work.

They all looked eagerly (and not a little fearfully) for critical help in the adjudications. With one voice they lamented lack of direction both at the public adjudications and after the play during private discussions with Mr. Goring.

Common Pitfall

Did he feel that a deeper understanding of the play and its author would automatically produce a better performance? If he did, his cavalier treatment of the Canadian entry negated the point.

Could it be that Mr. Goring fell into the common pitfall of studying plays and playwrights to such an extent that their importance to him completely transcended that of the performance? It would appear that he did.

Could this explain his avoidance of any mention of elocution, poise, posture, movement, voice range, character projection and other aspects of acting so vital to people struggling for improvement?

This was the first time Mr. Goring had adjudicated. As a minor character almost with impunity as most were with his mighty orations, all were bound, in fairness, to withhold final judgment until he made the awards. When he did so some of our worst suspicions were confirmed.

Poor Taste

On the final evening, Mr. Goring's performance for the CBC television audience was a work of art. He was polished, eminently professional. But he was not in Victoria to perform.

What the TV audience was served was his final adjudication which preceded the "show" and was deplorable.

In the worst possible taste he was humorous at the expense of Canadian playwright John Burgess whose first play, A Stranger into His Brethren, was the only Canadian entry. Mr. Burgess was in the audience.

Admittedly it is a bad play and as such merits criticism, but constructive, helpful, well-meaning criticism. Instead, Mr. Goring was cynical and condescending. Mr. Burgess was publicly crucified at the outset of his career. Hardly an encouragement to try again.

Rhetorical

Mr. Burgess' play deals with homosexuality. What does the author know about the subject? Mr. Goring asked rhetorically. It was obvious, he said, the Mr. Burgess had merely read a couple of books and perhaps a magazine article, and that, in fact, his research was skimpy and secondhand, unlike that of Jean Genet who writes on the subject from experience.

Mr. Goring's assumption was based on the play in which homosexuality is neither deeply nor satisfactorily explored. But Mr. Burgess comes from Toronto where there is ample opportunity to study the "gay" ones, who abound there and even have their own club. And one must assume that he did this.

Mr. Goring is an actor who by the very nature of his calling lacks the objectivity to be an adjudicator. Some of his final choices confirmed this inadequacy and also disclosed his stilted bias which had no place in such an event.

No one seriously quarrelled with his choice of the Calgary entry, The Knack, as best production, although had the award gone to Les Bonnes it would have been equally deserved.

(Incidentally, Andre Brassard—cited as best director for Les Bonnes—gives the lie to the thesis of essential empirical knowledge. Only 19, Brassard directing two equally young girls, achieved a violent impact and degree of realism with the deadly Genet perversions that would do credit to a much older and more experienced man.)

Many people, no doubt swayed by the impressiveness of the production, felt that the main award should have gone to Mother Courage. This was out of the question because performances by some of the leading characters, notably the Cook and the Prositute, were not good and minor characters almost without exception were inadequate. All were supposed to be vermin infested, yet none scratched himself. And so on.

Impressive

Nevertheless, it was an impressive effort and Mr. Goring's attitude towards it incomprehensible. He seemed to have it in for this version and found it difficult to say a good word for it.

I felt he was comparing it with the Berliner Ensemble original with Brecht's wife as authority for knowing what Brecht meant to convey.

But Mr. Goring's assertion that Lucille Walker's Mother Courage showed too much heart implied that no other actress or director is possessed of enough intelligence to work out an interpretation.

To my mind, Courage is a truly valiant heart, a "Cockney Mum." She typifies that indomitable struggle against life's odds by Eternal Woman. Lucille Walker played it that way and was magnificent.

No Compliment

The awarding of Best Supporting Actor prize to Stan Lacey, the Chaplain in Mother Courage, was insufficient recognition for this production.

It also received the Festival Plaque as runner-up English production, but, in the circumstances this was hardly complimentary.

Best Supporting Actress award went to Barbara Dahlquist, the wife in Vancouver Little Theatre's production of Strindberg's The Father. Mr. Goring made a flimsy case for this decision which didn't hold water.

He maintained that to be eligible an actress must be in a leading role and virtually carry the play without being its star. But surely every cast member, other than the stars, is in a supporting role and therefore eligible?

Rightly Out

Popular choice for this award would have been Robin Dearing (Katriin in Mother Courage), but Mr. Goring rightly ruled her out of contention.

As an actor he knows well that a man instantly evokes audience sympathy; he has no lines to worry about and that it is not a difficult part for anyone at all competent, which Miss Dearing is.

The case of Laurel Doucette (Laura in The Glass Menagerie) was different. She was the victim of inferior direction. Mr. Goring rightly ruled this production with shot but many questioned his correctness in sinking it without trace.

Miss Doucette lifted the secondary role into first place and, more than support, stole the show by default. Many felt she should have been rescued from the wreck and rewarded or at least revived with praise. In point of fact she was never mentioned.

Best Three

The standard of male acting in the festival, with five exceptions, was poor. Stan Lacey and Frank Crowson (the doctor in The Father) were good but the three men in The Knack were best. I placed them in this order: James Eberle (Tom), Robert Haley (Cohn) and Michael Ball (Tolen).

Mr. Goring didn't agree. He completely ignored Haley picked Eberle as best actor under 25 and Ball as best actor in the festival. Extraordinary! All three are under 25, therefore Eberle was superior to Ball or vice versa, or nothing makes sense!

Mr. Goring's earlier debatable decisions could perhaps have been overlooked if he hadn't completely blotted his copybook.

by giving Best Actress award to Sharon Pollock, the girl in The Knack.

Most people felt that she "mugged" her part outrageously and that, unlike the three men, was lacking in depth or awareness of the character she portrayed. In my opinion, which in this instance isn't humble at all, she has undeserving of this major award.

How Mr. Goring could ignore the massive performance of Lucille Walker as Mother Courage must remain a mystery—and the most unpleasant memory of this festival.

Her portrayal of the earthy, indomitable Courage was the highlight of the week. She was a trout among minnows.

Lost Respect

But Mr. Goring had already lost most people's respect earlier in the awards ceremony when, after refusing to present the award for best presentation of a play written by a Canadian because, he said, there was no competition and the rules forbade it, he promptly broke the rules by giving an award to the lone French entry. This gratuitous insult really rubbed salt into John Burgess' wounds.

Again, after singling out Rita Lafontaine during public adjudication as best actress in Les Bonnes (and justly for the wrong reasons and to everyone's astonishment) he did some rapid footwork and danced his way out of a delicate situation by sharing the Quebec government's $3,000 scholarship between Mlle. Lafontaine and Frederique Collin (who was the better actress of the two and scoring a bad time at the private adjudication). His explanation to the audience for his decision was feeble.

Beyond Reach

Marius Goring must not be entirely blamed for making a hash of things. In fact, many people expressed great sympathy for him.

Why was an actor chosen? And why does he have to come from Britain? Why not an American? And, for heaven's sake, why not a Canadian?

Drama Critic

The masterly comments and inspirational attitude of Guy Beaulieu, last year's adjudicator, are still treasured by those who attended or participated in the 1965 Festival. And he's Canadian.

And why must bilingualism restrict choice? What's wrong with an interpreter?

To insist on bilingualism at a drama festival is as fatuous as saying Churchill doesn't speak Russian but Eden does, therefore make Eden Prime Minister to foster Stalin.

My suggestion to the organizers of future festivals is that they should consider getting a What's Cortina, a family car, doing running around deserts and over mountains? Winning rallies!

Big rallies — like the East African Safari and the Shell 4000. Because Cortina is a performer: with features such as a powerful 4-cylinder, 1500 cc. engine, snappy all-synchromesh four-on-the-floor, disc brakes and much more. To delight your wife: plenty of room inside including space for three adults in back, luxurious bench or bucket seats, richly padded dash, the ease and luxury of a superb automatic transmission, arm rests on all four doors, trunk space for five bulky suitcases plus the exclusive Aeroflow ventilation

Cortina GT 4-door sedan system for almost air-conditioned comfort. And every Cortina is dealer warranted for 24,000 miles or 24 months! A car with all this shouldn't be missed. Don't miss it!

Cortina Family car features sports car flair!

Prize-Winners Chose Church

St. Stephen's Church in Saanich was the subject of two paintings at the Saanich Peninsula Art Centre exhibition over the weekend, and both were winners.

In the historic landmark competition, the painting of the church by former national park warden Robert Henry Mann, of 75 Gregory Place, won top honors.

Second prize went to A. D. J. Pitts, a watercolor artist, for his painting of the church — a landmark since it was built 104 years ago.

CROFTON
Third prize in the landmark category went to Pearl Mann, 3340 Richmond.

U.S. Launches Satellite

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A satellite vehicle employing a Thor-Agena booster combination was launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base near here by an air force industry team, the air force announced. Details of the payload were not disclosed.

Saskatchewan Aim: Listen to Youth

By DON MACLACHLAN

REGINA (CP) — An inch-thick report tabled in the Saskatchewan legislature in February recommended, among other things, the gradual establishment of a youth and culture department.

But if Dr. Howard Nixon, who, the youth part of it will be different — young people will actually have something to say about what is done.

"It's about time youth was given a voice in its programs," he says, explaining that this idea is implicit in the report.

BY ADULTS
"Too many programs are run by adults for adult purposes. You can't kick youth in the behind and say, 'Here, this is what you'll do.'"

The author of this refreshing point of view is the executive director of the Saskatchewan youth agency, a 38-year-old recreation expert.

He says his concept means a "complete change in the outlook" of many agencies and government departments involved in youth programs.

YOUNG COMMITTEE
One of the first steps will be formation of an 11-member advisory committee of persons 16 to 21. And, says Dr. Nixon with a grin, the committee and adult influence will be kept "well apart."

The report listed six major problems with present youth programs—lack of co-ordination, leadership, facilities, money and research and the fact that the programs are "conceived, operated and evaluated by adults."

GIRLS IGNORED
On top of that, Dr. Nixon says, the nearly 94,000 young people in rural areas are sadly neglected. And "everybody is running programs for boys, and not girls, and then only boys between 10 and 15."

"At 15 or 16, kids start to resent—no, rather start to question—the authoritarianism of some of these programs. They'd rather be able to have their own ideas. So why not let them?"

Dr. Nixon, former recreation director at Edmonton and a coach and organizer of football, swimming, wrestling and hockey in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, says more programs must be aimed at those over 16.

U.S. Schooner Hits Reef
PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — The Tacoma-based schooner Zenith, which ran aground on a reef about 50 miles south of here, has arrived here under her own power. The ship sustained heavy damage to her keel when she struck Morning Reef while bound for Seattle with a 70,000-pound load of fish taken in Alaskan waters.

Man Missing After Plunge
REVELSTOCK (CP) — RCMP here say Charles Henry Roy, 19, of Sicamous, died when his car plunged down a 25-foot embankment into the Kootenai River, one mile west of here. The body was recovered from the river after the unoccupied vehicle was found.

Horse Kicks Girl

A 10-year-old girl was knocked down and kicked in the head by a spooked horse after Monday's parade.

The horse, owned by Linda Heske, 12, of 1112 Goldstream, was tethered at Finlayson and Burnside Monday afternoon when it got tangled in a rope and panicked, knocking down Maureen Gray, 663 Burnside East. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

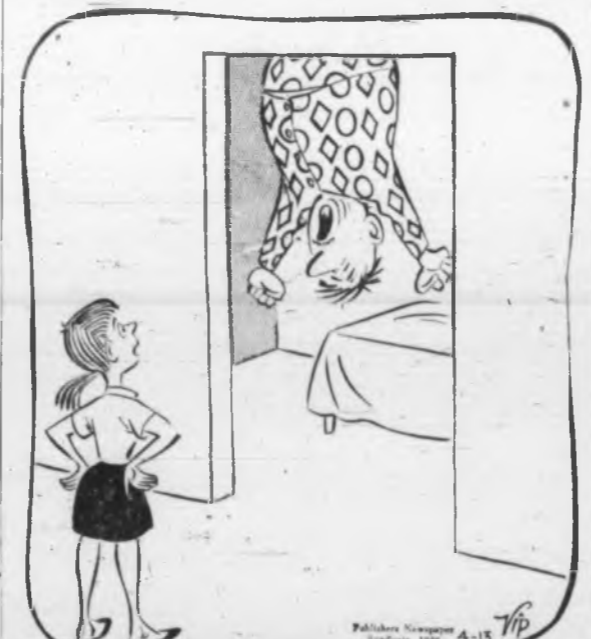

The traditional 21-gun salute at noon Monday caused some trembling among horses in the Sonceyay drill team.

The salute began as the horses passed the Empress Hotel, and the mount of Mrs. Eva Barr of Saanich broke free and galloped down Government Street.

No one was injured and the horse was captured soon afterward.

Two elderly people and one expectant mother collapsed while viewing the parade, and received first aid.

BIG GEORGE! By Virgil Partch

"If I were you I'd go back to bed and start all over again."

Oil Tanker Stateless

LONDON (CP)—The captain of the oil tanker Ioanna V, a ship without a flag anchored in Beira Harbor, has asked for provisional entry to the registry. British officials said Tuesday.

The request raised complicated legal issues and is now under consideration, the officials said.

The Ioanna V, captained by Olysses Vardinoyannis, arrived in Beira on April 5 with a cargo of 18,000 tons of crude oil destined for Rhodesia.

Field Day For 4-H Saturday

South Malahat 4-H council will hold a field day at Saanich Fairgrounds at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Results of the judging competitions will be important in the final annual marks and will also have some influence in deciding who will go to the provincial club week, and from there to the national club week, council chairman Alan Barker said Saturday.

To get experience in judging outside their own fields, competitors will be required to judge all categories—dairy cattle, beef, sheep, rabbits, poultry, goats and home arts.

At the end of the competition, experienced judges will explain how they judged the entries.

4-H Club Winners Listed

Winners among 4-H exhibitors at the Victoria Exhibition last week were:

Winners were Kathy Tribe, Saanich 4-H Jersey Club; Steven Doran, Saanich Peninsula 4-H Beef Club; Kathy Smith, Saanich 4-H Lamb Club; Harvey Wright, Luster Horticultural 4-H Club; Marg Lord, Saanich 4-H Goat Club; and Joanne Adams, Saanich 4-H Home Arts Club.

Garden Notes

Scent of Welcome

By M. V. CHESNUT
I think I mentioned in an earlier article something of the frustration and irritation I experienced when I first experimented with Tigridia bulbs. Not that they were difficult to grow, for like most of the summer-flowering bulbs, Tigridias are singularly free from temperamental eccentricities. Trouble was, the flowers opened after I had gone to work in the morning and were closed by the time I returned home in the evening, and the only time I ever got to see my gorgeous spotted blooms was on weekends. Since that time, I have come to place a special value on flowers that open in the evening, and especially those that greet the commuter with sweet fragrance on his return home. On cool, damp evenings, the heady perfume of hyacinths lingers over from the day, but an even stronger fragrance is distilled by the early biennial stocks.

average winter unscathed, making bushy plants smothered in April with fragrant blooms, especially sweetly-scented during the evening hours. Our grandmothers knew a good thing when they planted their farm or cottage gardens with Hesperis matronalis, affectionately known as Sweet Rocket or Dame's Rocket. Grown the same way as the Brodiaea stocks, Sweet Rocket makes a plant about 2 1/2 feet tall with single mauve or white flowers which remain open but are scentless during the day. From supper-time on, though, the clustered blossoms fill the air with a haunting fragrance, a bit like violets and a bit like hyacinths. While each plant lives for only two years, it seeds itself freely and there is never any shortage of any self-sown seedlings. Nicotiana, or Flowering Tobacco, is renowned for its evening perfume, but if this is your aim, make sure the plants you buy are not the Daylight hybrids. These have been especially bred to stay open during daylight hours, and while they are far superior as an ornamental bedding plant, their scent is nothing like as strong nor as sweet as the old-fashioned Nicotiana affinis which closes its blossoms tightly during the day. The Evening Scented Stock, Matthiola bicornis, is truly the Cinderella of the plant world. Easy to grow from a casual scattering of seeds, this annual makes a rather untidy and dowdy plant with closed mud-colored buds. With the coming of dusk, though, these buds open to small mauve star-shaped flowers, still not overly handsome, but the fragrance from these small flowers is out of this world. Mirabilis jalapa is a tuberous perennial commonly grown as an annual from seed, very popular in Spain where it is known as Hermosa de Noche, Flower of the Night. Hereabouts it is called Marvel of Peru or Four O'clock, the latter name because the wide funnel-shaped flowers open in the late afternoon. The flowers may be red, pink, white or occasionally bicolored, and the perfume, while not as carrying as that of Nicotiana, has a light, sweet, exhilarating scent. Seeds are available in almost every seed rack and catalogue under one or the other of its two common names, and the bushy two-foot plants make a good and fast-growing temporary flowering hedge, or may be grown in tubs as specimen plants for bringing scent to a patio or other sitting-out place. The turnip-like roots may be dug up and stored in the fall in the same way as dahlia tubers.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Kim's Marriage Weird

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—If anything except incompatibility broke up the marriage of Kim Novak and Richard Johnson, it was Richard's insistence that Kim join him in London for the June 9 world premiere of his picture, Khartoum, with Charlton Heston and Sir Laurence Olivier. Kim does not want to leave her home in Carmel, and she finds it simpler to get a divorce. This marriage was weird from the word go.

"In answer to the question in your column about George Peppard's hair," writes his best friend (his press agent), "you're wrong on both counts." (I had wondered whether George was planning on playing the Son of Frankenstein, or if new bride Elizabeth Ashley had cut it with a garden shears). "George," continued his BF, "had Jay Sebring, probably the highest priced hair stylist for men (he no longer call them barbers) cut his hair for his role in Tobruk, and even though the picture (with Rock Hudson) is now finished, he likes it so well, he's keeping it." So there.

As for George's plans, he and Liz will arrive in New York June 23 for the premiere of his picture, The Blue Max, then he takes off on a cross-country tour to promote the picture, while Liz remains in New York to have fun. He'll join her later. Liz, who hasn't retired officially, is not eager for work unless an irresistible part is offered her. She has turned down three play offers in the past two months.

It isn't marriage as much as disillusionment that has made Miss Ashley almost decide to give up her career. She detested herself in Ship of Fools, and after the grand premiere, she went home instead of to the party, and wept the night through. Her good friend, Simone Signoret, who was in the film and won an Oscar nomination for it, told me that when a girl can be so upset about her role, it means she has the stuff from which stars are made. Elizabeth was enchanting on Broadway in Barefoot in the Park. I wish Hal Wallis would offer her the film role. The only picture she has made here was Harlow, which everyone concerned would rather forget.

David Niven was asked in London whether he was playing Sir James Bond in Casino Royale. To which he replied, "I've got to be loyal to Charlie Feldman (the producer), so all I can say is that no one is Bond, and everyone is Bond." Now there's a clear statement for you. About as clear as everything else from all I hear. Deborah Kerr is more confused than Niven. In the film, she has 12 daughters. All grown up, too. Well, anyway, Peter Sellers seems to have finished his role so they are managing to get ahead. They expect to shoot the last scene sometime next month. When last heard from, Peter was planning a trip around the world. Coming up, Fagin in Oliver.

Paula Prentiss would rather keep her marriage intact with Dick Benjamin, which is why she is refusing film offers to remain with him in New York. They have given Julie Andrews a smashing sex image in Torn Curtain with Paul Newman. And with Paul as the man, any girl would feel sexy. Jean-Paul Belmondo gets everything but the print of Up To His Ears—what a horrible title—it's his new picture for United Artists.

Everyone in London turned up for the charity premiere of Modesty Blaise—except two of the top stars, Monica Vitti, who was in Italy, and Terence Stamp, who said he was too shy to attend. He never sees his films, like his friend, Richard Burton. Terry always sends his dotting parents who naturally adore everything he does.

Peter O'Toole paid $10,000 for his new yearling, Eric, which has already paid back his cost by winning some good races. We will be seeing Peter soon as God in the Bible. He's to do anything after that for an encore. They say the reason for the abandonment of the Lester Cowan Anglo-Russian production, Meeting at a Far Meridian, is because the Russian government is angry with America over Viet Nam. It does not quite add up.

SYDNEY HARRIS

Thinks Aloud

Thoughts at Large:

Many fewer minds are chained by the taboos and restrictions imposed from the outside than are paralyzed by the fears and prejudices imposed by oneself. External freedom is meaningless so long as we remain the prisoners of our own psychic infancy.

What we rarely learn until too late is the paradox expressed in the Talmud, when Alexander asked the Elders what a man should do to live. They replied: Let him kill himself (doing good). He asked what a man should do to live. They replied: Let him live (in self-indulgence).

The physical laws of perspective are strangely reversed in the psychological world—to the eyes, what is close seems large and what is far seems small; but to the mind, what we have at hand seems small and what we crave from afar seems large. We are aware of the illusion of sight; few are aware of the illusion of desire.

When good luck strikes us, it is helpful to remember the maxim that "fortune is fickle," in order to avoid becoming smug or complacent; but, likewise, when bad luck strikes us, it is equally helpful to keep the maxim in mind, in order to avoid self-pity or despair.

"There is a wide difference," observed Cato 2,000 years ago, "between true courage and mere contempt of life"—a difference that is not recognized by the desperado, who mistakes for courage his violent actions which merely express his contempt for all life, including his own.

When we deny any part of our nature too ruthlessly, that part does not disappear or remain quiescent, but sooner or later makes its appearance, in some other form, to take its revenge upon the rest of us.

Just as most of our new expressways are obsolete for the very flow of traffic by the time they are completed, so are most of our new college buildings already obsolete for the flow of students by the time they are erected—and in both areas, we need desperately to learn that growth is not necessarily the same as progress.

What many business firms still have to learn is that the "customer" is not the person who pays, but the one who determines the "buying decision," and, increasingly, in our matriarchal and juvenile society, while it remains the man who pays, it is the wives and children who make the buying decisions, even in cars and houses.

One way to find out whether you are truly an educated person is to see if you can distinguish the differences among the following: education, schooling, learning, and training, which are all quite different things.

ARTHUR HOPPE Writes a Fable

Herd Ignores Wise Nell

WASHINGTON—Once upon a time there was a Great Big Bull who led his herd into a quagmire. It could happen to anybody. But in his mighty struggles to get them out he managed only to sink them all in deeper.

Naturally, a few members of the herd, mostly rebellious young calves—questioned the Great Big Bull's judgment. Some thought they ought to go back the way they'd come and some were for charging off to the right or to the left or whichever.

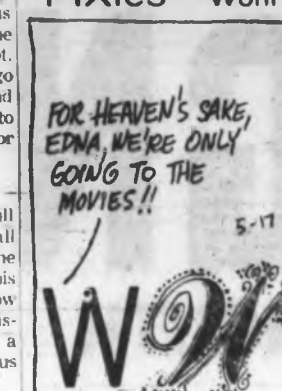

At first, the Great Big Bull smiled tolerantly at this small minority. "It is a tribute to the democratic way I run this herd," he said, "that I allow these well-intentioned but misguided critics to speak out at a time like this. Now let us struggle on."

So the herd struggled on, floundering and thrashing about,

And pretty soon they were all in up to their knees.

"Maybe we ought to stop for a minute to get our bearings," a bespectacled bull named Nellbright suggested somewhat hesitantly. For all members of the herd, where a understandingly afraid of the Great Big Bull.

"You have the irrefragable right in this herd to suggest anything you want," said the Great Big Bull testily. "Even though you are obviously blind to experience, deaf to hope and are perhaps giving aid and comfort to the quagmire. Now let us struggle on!"

So the herd struggled on, floundering and thrashing about. And pretty soon they were all in up to their bellies. "I know we are the mightiest and most powerful herd in the world," said the bespectacled bull named Nellbright with a worried frown. "But it seems to me our struggles are merely getting us in deeper."

This made the herd a little uneasy. "Nobody," snorted the Great Big Bull, "wants to get Nellbright out of the quagmire more than I. Now let us struggle on!" So the herd struggled on, floundering and thrashing about,

And pretty soon they were all in up to their knees.

"We must tie a rope around our necks and all pull together," ordered the Great Big Bull. "Straight ahead, now. One two..."

"But if we go that way," protested the bespectacled bull named Nellbright, "we'll all go right over the..." "Listen, you Nervous Nellie," bellowed the Great Big Bull, frustrated beyond endurance. "You're trying to pull us apart to promote yourself. Anybody who turns on his own leader, his own herd, is a Nervous Nellie. Now, to preserve our democratic way of life, everybody shut up, pull together and follow me."

And it worked! The herd, not wishing to be thought Nervous Nellies by the Great Big Bull, shut up, pulled together and blindly followed their leader—out of the quagmire, up a small rise, and right over an 8,000-foot floundering and thrashing about, cliff.

Motor Vans Replaced By Horses

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Horses will replace motorized equipment on 15 of 30 milk routes operated by Farmost Dairies Ltd. in the Kitchener-Waterloo area, the company's president, Robert C. Marran, said Tuesday.

Mr. Marran said tests proved the horse-drawn delivery system was efficient, fast and consistent.

U.K. Strike

Prospects Look Gloomy

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Maritime strike entered a grim phase Tuesday with an uncompromising statement from the seamen's leader that the stoppage could last a month.

In that time the country's economy, already shaky, could be crippled.

The pessimistic statement from William Hogarth, secretary of the striking 65,000-member National Union of Seamen, coincided with indications that the country's longshoremen could become involved in the strike, which began May 16.

Jack Dash, unofficial longshoremen's leader and an admitted card-carrying Communist, warned the government that a dangerous situation would be created if troops or the navy were drafted to clear docks congested with strike-bound shipping.

Under the state of emergency proclaimed Monday, troops could be used to safeguard essential supplies.

The labor government hopes it will not be forced to use state-of-emergency powers. But if the strike is not settled within a week, naval troops could be brought in to move strikebound ships and make accommodation for foreign vessels bringing food and raw materials.

Dash also warned that in a few days there will be less work

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—A routine test turned into tragedy Tuesday when a helicopter struck a transmission tower on the side of Mount Seymour and two workmen plunged 250 feet to their deaths.

The helicopter crashed at the base of the tower, exploded and burned. Pilot Robert N. Hansen, 30, was thrown clear and was in poor condition following emergency surgery in hospital.

Killed were Joseph Jacob Yoner, 30, of Burnaby, and Robert Smith, 36, of Cloverdale.

Yoner and Smith, steelworkers employed by Western Bridge Ltd., had climbed the tower only five minutes before the accident.

They were checking to see if it was feasible to hook a line from the helicopter to the tower and had planned to unbolt the top 20-foot section so that it could be removed.

The helicopter was circling overhead while the men climbed up. Witnesses said they didn't know if the copter's rotor-blade struck a guy wire first or if it hit the tower itself.

The men, a chunk of the tower and the helicopter plummeted to the ground in a shower of debris.

Two CBC technicians, Sam Greenwood and Ken Bewley, were filming the helicopter operation with an eight-millimetre movie camera. They caught the entire incident on film.

Stanley Davis, technical supervisor for radio station

CHQM, owners of the new tower on the side of Mount Seymour, said the accident happened so suddenly "we couldn't tell from the ground what was hit."

"We couldn't tell what went wrong."

"The two men started to climb back down the top 20-foot section, but it broke away and they fell."

"We couldn't see the pilot in the wreckage," said George Fattou, one of the workers near the scene. "Then something moved on the ground several feet away and it was him."

"So we dragged him away from the fire."

The tower, built in 20-foot truss-like sections, is part of the Vancouver radio station's transmitting system. It is located 3,000 feet up the side of the mountain.

Mr. Hansen is married with a three-year-old daughter. He is a former RCAF jet pilot and has been employed by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., owners of the Hiller L-4 helicopter, since 1964.

Department of Transport investigators were investigating.

The crash was the second in the same area involving a helicopter within the past five days. A pilot and two passengers escaped uninjured Saturday when a copter owned by Wescan Exploration, a North Vancouver mining company, fell 40 feet.

Labor Ferment Spreads

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 700 civic workers in North Vancouver city and district went on strike Tuesday for higher pay as labor problems continued to grow throughout British Columbia.

The walkout ended garbage collection, road work and clerical work in civic offices and the court house. Some of the strikers are employed in the district's 38 senior and elementary schools but the union said it would not interfere with teachers or students.

Authorities planned to keep all the schools open without janitors, secretaries and maintenance employees. There are about 18,000 students enrolled.

The strikers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), rejected an increase in salary of 11.3 per cent for a two-year period. They seek 12 per cent in a one-year contract.

Present basic wage is $2.30 an hour compared with $2.28½ cents an hour in the city of Vancouver where 1,500 outside workers walked out almost three weeks ago in a bid for more money.

Members of the Vancouver Civic (Outside) Workers Union (CLC) want an increase of 70 cents an hour during a three-year period. The city offered 28½ cents in a two-year package.

Litter blew through Vancouver streets and garbage piled up as union officials said picket lines would be lifted Saturdays at the city dump

Warning Shot Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department said Tuesday an armed Cuban soldier was shot Saturday night after penetrating the perimeter of the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba and ignoring a warning shot fired by a U.S. marine sentry.

The statement came after Cuban Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro claimed in a Havana speech that Luis Ramirez Lopez was killed by U.S. guards at the U.S. base.

The state department statement said:

"At about 7:10 p.m. May 21, an armed Cuban soldier was observed who had penetrated the perimeter fence at the Guantanamo naval base.

"A warning shot was fired by a U.S. marine sentry which the Cuban ignored.

"When the Cuban infiltrator ignored the warning shot, a second shot was fired which resulted in the wounding of the Cuban."

Spence Probe Adjourned

Gerda Report Soon

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Mr. Justice Wishart Spence told newsmen Tuesday he hopes to have his report on the Munsinger affair published before the end of June.

As he shoved the 1,200-odd pages of transcript into his briefcase, the 62-year-old judge said he had rented an office in Ottawa with a large boardroom.

table on which he could spread all the evidence out.

Asked if he was going to take a vacation before writing the report, he replied: "I usually go away after I write them — I find it healthier that way."

The judge must now make his way through the evidence given by 11 witnesses, contained in several RCMP and government reports, and summed up in argument by four lawyers.

He has promised that if he is going to condemn anyone in his report, he will give the accused people an opportunity to defend themselves in another hearing.

Consequently, Tuesday, he adjourned, rather than terminated the hearings that were so unusual to so many political careers.

Most observers at the hearings felt certain that the judge will be sharply critical of

Old Sea Hands' Advice Ignored

By JOY HUNTLEY

KELSEY BAY — Money changed hands here Sunday and many residents put on their smuggest smile to say "I told you so" when the Queen of Prince Rupert crashed into pilings at the terminal here.

The pride of Premier Bennett's ferry fleet, which boasts more tonnage afloat than the Canadian navy on the Pacific, crashed into dolphin supports after being caught by strong currents Sunday.

The big Queen had just returned from Prince Rupert with a cargo of dignitaries making the inaugural trip.

For months Kelsey Bay residents, wise in the ways of the sea, have been predicting

Capt. Thomas Parkinson would have trouble docking the big ship if a strong tide combined with a high wind.

Campbell River resident Thor Peterson, who made the trip south on the Queen of Prince Rupert, said the veteran skipper was well aware of the difficulties but had been ignored by design experts who said better facilities were unnecessary.

Mr. Peterson said: "Capt. Parkinson has made a thorough study of tides and winds here but the experts ignored him."

He added: "After the first docking attempt, when three windows on the port side were damaged, Capt. Parkinson brought her in perfectly. He did a terrific job."

A Swift tide caught the stern of the ferry and slammed it into pilings.

Steel plates were also creased in the crash. One passenger commented, "They spent millions on this flagship but pinched pennies on a proper docking facility."

Queen of Prince Rupert cost $5,500,000.

An official statement announcing the occupation made no mention of reports that the kabaka, Sir Edward Frederick Mutesa, had been arrested.

With the support of the palace guards the 41-year-old king, ruler of the biggest kingdom in Uganda, held out several hours despite heavy fire from the attacking troops.

LONG FEUD

The siege was the latest episode in a long feud between the Kabaka and President Milton Obote.

King Freddie, as the kabaka was nicknamed when serving as a grenadier guards officer in the British Army, became first president of Uganda a year after the East African country gained independence from Britain. Last February, however, Obote, who was then prime minister, abrogated the constitution and assumed the presidency himself.

WORRIED ABOUT PLOT

He alleged senior officials were plotting his overthrow with the aid of foreign troops.

Last Friday the kabaka, through a Buganda parliamentary resolution, called on Obote to remove his central government from Kampala, which is in Buganda.

The president accused the kabaka of rebellion Monday night and declared a state of emergency and a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

As the palace was besieged Tuesday troops blocked all roads to the palace.

The government said security forces had occupied the palace to get to a source of illegal arms which had been used against Uganda police and troops.

Here's what new facilities will look like

Sports Complex Given OK

Building will begin "as soon as possible" on the new Racquet Club of Victoria facilities which were approved at a general meeting of the club Tuesday night.

The club must be out of its present site, behind the shopping centre at Foul Bay and Fort, before Sept. 30, and club officials said Tuesday that they were hopeful of being into the new facilities by this fall.

The new site is at the corner of Gordon Head and Ruby Road. The membership, overwhelmingly approved the proposed plan which had been developed by the club executive in conjunction with Dominion Construction.

The resolution providing for the new facilities was passed by a 88 per cent majority, and the resolution approving the $750,000 construction cost was passed.

The final resolution providing for a limited holding company was passed almost unanimously.

An amendment to the facilities resolution, which would have delayed the ice until covering memberships had been sold, was defeated on a show-of-hands vote.

At Tuesday's meeting, it was announced that 116 pledges for membership (at $500 a family) in the new complex had been received. With a concerted drive, club officials hope to obtain another 400 or 500 memberships and thus help to finance the new facilities.

The first phase of the Gordon Head operation will include nine tennis courts, a combination ice sheet and curling rink, five badminton courts, three squash courts, a lounge and perhaps a swimming pool.

Six-Game Win Streak

Boston Pulling Up Its Sox

If you're going to look now it's quicker to start at the bottom of the American League tables and work up but Boston Red Sox are starting to look like a major league baseball team.

Boostered by rookie sluggers George Scott and Joe Foy and rookie pitcher Jose Santiago to Yastrzemski, Conigliaro and Jim Gosger led a 16-hit attack with home runs and Santiago, with ninth-inning help from Dick Radatz, brought his record to 4-1 with a six-hitter.

On Sunday, the Red Sox scored three runs after two were out in the seventh inning to whip Kansas City Athletics, 5-1, with Foy singling in one run and scoring after stealing a base.

Meanwhile, Cleveland Indians retained their two and a half game lead by splitting a doubleheader with the runner-up Detroit Tigers.

After blowing an early 5-0 lead to lose the opener, 6-7, the Indians got a four-hitter from Luis Tiant to win the afternoon, 2-0.

Dodgers nipped Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, on Ron Fairly's eighth-inning homer.

The Reds used a seven-run sixth inning to wallop Atlanta Braves, 8-2.

Gord Strongman and John Yankoski shared the pitching chores Monday as Transport Workers of the Senior Amateur Baseball League swept a doubleheader from Chemainus at Hampton Park.

Strongman threw a one-hitter in the first game to shut out the visitors 5-0 and Yankoski threw a three-hitter in the second game for a 2-0 win.

In a Sunday doubleheader, Rawlings defeated Courtney 2-0 in the first game, with George Brice getting the win. The second game ended in an 11-1 tie.

Kings Hotel lost two 4-3 decisions to Chemainus Sunday at Chemainus. Larry Paradis got credit for both victories as he hurled eight innings in the first game and then came on in relief to win the nightcap.

Sooke dropped a 7-1 decision to Colony at Heywood Avenue Park. It marked the second straight loss for Hett and his mates.

A four-run outburst in the fourth inning enabled Sooke's Larry Jay coast to his first victory of the season.

Leading the attack was Ray Pimlott who doubled home Ken Gregory and Ken Maxwell. Pimlott finished the evening with two doubles and a triple.

Sooke's top pitcher, Geoff Hett, pitched a 7-1 victory over Colony.

B.C. Skies Scene For 'Battle'

TACOMA (AP) — Mock air battle action involving United States and Canadian planes from Comox will be held today to test air defence facilities.

The test will cover British Columbia, Western Alberta, Washington, Western Idaho and Montana and the Portland, Ore., area.

Officers at McChord Air Force Base near here said the action, mainly at 30,000-35,000 feet, will not involve supersonic speeds so no sonic booms are expected.

Parades, Contests Mark Empire Day

Empire Day celebrations in Nanaimo went off without a hitch over the weekend with a giant parade climaxing the festivities, Monday.

Few residents from the area could have stayed at home, for spectators jammed the parade route five or six deep.

Parade Marshal was B.C. Lions football hero Joe Kapp, and other dignitaries in the parade included Colin Cameron, MP; Dave Stupich, M.L.A.; and Mayor Pete Maffeo and his council.

beauty queens made up the parade.

Georgia Park and the waterfront was jammed Sunday night when a giant fireworks display was staged in the harbor from a barge.

Prior to the display Miss PNE, Lene Graaten of Parksville, judged a wax-mustache growing contest.

Cumberland's Annual Empire Day festivities May 23 saw retiring May Queen Maxine Anderson crown her successor, Norma McDonald, to herald the start of day-long activities.

Traditional maypole dancing by students of the elementary schools and a display of Highland dancing by Joy Woodrow students preceded the sports events which took place after lunch.

At Port Alberni Colleen Garrard, 18, whose sister Judy was Miss Alberni Valley in 1964, became Miss Alberni Valley, 1966 at the banquet and dance in Smith Memorial Hall Monday.

Judy, the 1964 Miss Alberni, was unable to come home from her job in Vancouver for the big event, but the girls spoke to one another on the phone following selection of Colleen as Miss Alberni Valley 1966.

Colleen, who was the Kinsmen's entry, goes to UBC in the fall.

Queen contestants were not the only tired ones. Signed Mrs. R. E. Garneau, 309 Sixth Avenue South, when asked how it feels to have two Miss Alberni Valleys in the family, "I'm exhausted!"

Janitor's Firing Protested

Angry Parents Denied Hearing by Trustees

By RUTH McKELLAR
COURTENAY — Charges of harassment leveled at Courtenay school trustees Tuesday night by a delegation of parents from Tsolum.

The delegation made the accusation after being refused a hearing by the board on its complaint that janitor Glen Mark was unjustly dismissed by the board.

Board members felt they were not obliged to give the delegation a hearing as they had not been notified the delegates were to appear.

Mr. Mark was dismissed in what the delegates described as "an undemocratic manner."

He was fired after a closed committee meeting and told he was out of a job as of April 29.

Chairman of the board, Brian Walker, said: "The board regretted the necessity of ending this man's employment but in view of his irresponsible attitude we had no other alternative but to protect the taxpayers by ending his employment."

HIRED TWO

Spokesman for the delegation, George Machin, offered this explanation.

He said the board had hired two janitors for the Courtenay Senior Secondary School to work from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Mr. Mark, as senior janitor, decided there was not sufficient work to keep the two men fully employed during those hours so he re-assigned them to other times.

HEARING

The delegation spokesman said it was this action that the board now termed "irresponsible."

When asked why he had not asked for a specific appointment to meet the board, Mr. Machin said "my letter would have only been pigeonholed."

The Tsolum delegation will ask the board for a formal hearing.

Youth Faces Rape Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — Barry Ronald Wilson, 18, was committed for High Court trial on charges of rape, robbery and theft. He was arrested Feb. 8, after a 20-year-old Vancouver nurse told police she was raped and robbed of $9 in Stanley Park.

Board to Probe

Teacher Turnover

DUNCAN — Cowichan School Board Tuesday night decided to follow Trustee Wilf Peck's advice and will investigate the cause of the alleged high turnover of teachers at the Crofton Elementary School.

Trustee Jack Efford, who lives at Crofton, complained about a 90-per-cent turnover of teachers at Crofton since he joined the board four years ago.

He was unable to offer any cause for this turnover.

Superintendent of schools, Art Jones, remarked "the 90 percent appeared to be a bit high," but Trustee Efford insisted "it is very high, it is very alarming."

'Make Schooling Mandatory'

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO — The B.C. Association for Retarded Children wants the provincial government to make mandatory the education and training of all educable and trainable mentally handicapped children.

The resolution submitted by the Burnaby delegation to the ninth annual convention of the association, which ended here Sunday, recommended the School Act and other legislation should be amended to allow "every child to develop his potential to the maximum."

The government will be asked to recognize in its grant structure the additional cost of such education.

WORKSHOP AID

To help local communities operating sheltered workshops, approval in principle was given to a Dunsmuir resolution calling for aid to workshops training the mentally retarded.

Campbell River received backing for its resolution requesting the provincial association to promote routine tests in babies for phenylketonuria and other metabolic diseases which may cause mental retardation.

TREATMENT

A Mission City resolution asking the provincial government to make special provision for the examination and treatment of eyes, teeth, speech and hearing of the retarded was endorsed.

Courtenay received backing for its resolution asking the government to assist local communities who want to set up workshops for adult retardates.

BORDER CROSSING

Upper Fraser Valley received approval for its resolution to petition the senior governments of Canada and the United States to relax border crossings for retardates.

At the present time applications must be made three months prior to a crossing. A hot potato from the Fraser Valley was defeated by the convention.

TO MEDICAL BOARD

The resolution called for the sterilization of both sexes for the retarded with parental permission.

This was referred to the medical advisory board.

Another hot issue was referred back to the education, legal and research committee.

This was a Campbell River resolution asking for abolition of prison sentences for retardates found guilty of sexual offences where they might become the prey of perverts, and instead confine them in a special institution.

Unexpected Blast

Dynamite Raised Harbor's Gusher

NANAIMO — Passengers aboard B.C. Ferries plying between Departure Bay and Horseshoe Bay were startled Saturday morning to see a gusher of water and smoke shoot 40 feet into the air.

A federal government crew was responsible for the blast, Nanaimo Harbor Master John Dunham said Tuesday.

The workmen had detonated stocks of old dynamite and blasting caps that had accumulated in the Nanaimo and Ladysmith areas.

Their action had not been cleared with the proper authorities, Mr. Dunham said, and steps have been taken to ensure it doesn't happen again.

He did not name the government department responsible. The blast occurred just outside Nanaimo Harbor Commission jurisdiction, at the south end of Snake Island.

B.C. Ferry passengers and residents on Gabriola Island reported seeing the explosion, and telephone calls prompted Mr. Dunham to order the harbor patrol boat out to make sure a boat had not exploded and sunk.

'Dud' Practice Bomb Found by Young Boy

NANAIMO — A practice bomb found in the bushes off Beaufort Avenue during the weekend turned out to be harmless.

A navy demolition expert was called to Nanaimo after James Knight, 8, found the bomb while playing in the area.

Don Deane from CFB Naden at Esquimalt dismantled the bomb at the police station and said it had been expended but it could have been dangerous if loaded.

He said he had dismantled two other bombs at Sooke and Victoria during the last week.

RCMP are unable at present to explain how the bomb came to be in the townsite area.

Nanaimo Re-Zoning

Council Rejects Hospital Plan

NANAIMO — Re-zoning the old Nanaimo Hospital was turned down Monday night by city council.

Two weeks ago, council received a recommendation from the advisory planning commission that the area should not be re-zoned from residential to general business.

At the time, the recommendation was tabled until a meeting could be held with the hospital board.

Original plan submitted by architect Les Barley was to turn the old building into office suites.

This project ran into another hitch when Health Minister Eric Martin refused to approve the sale, because he did not consider Mr. Barley's offer of $20,000 an answer to an advertised bid.

After council's motion was passed, an item of late correspondence was introduced, which turned out to be a letter from Mr. Barley withdrawing his application, because he had been informed of Mr. Martin's decision.

UNITARIANS
In other council business the Unitarian Fellowship expressed interest in buying a lot in Council's new subdivision near the hospital.

The group plans to build a church in the area.

Third reading was given to a bylaw to dedicate the subdivision, which will consist of 49 lots, plus a four-acre park to be called Beaufort Park, and almost two acres for development as a shopping centre and apartment complex.

APPOINTEE
The school board was given permission to recommend a person to the Minister of Education to fill school trustee Doug Webber's term.

Mr. Webber resigned when he left the city and his term expires at the end of the year.

NEAR NANAIMO
He wanted to know if the form would ask "do you favor regional colleges or do you favor a regional college in your area?"

It seems everything points to a regional college in or near Nanaimo, he said.

Ald. Ron Lyon asked what form a plebiscite on the college issue might take.

Answering Ald. Lyon's query on costs between plebiscite and referendum, Ald. Macfie said only the nine school districts involved had been assessed, but he agreed the latter "all be public funds."

Volunteer firemen fight losing battle to save school

School Blaze Set?

LAKE COWICHAN — Police here believe there is a strong possibility of arson in a fire which roared through the J. H. Boyd Elementary School here Monday afternoon.

William Jensen, who lives near the school, spotted smoke billowing from a classroom window. He ran to the school and found flames pouring from a storeroom.

When his efforts with a fire extinguisher failed, he turned in an alarm to the fire department.

Suspicion of arson came when Mr. Jensen said he saw oil spilled over floors in the three-room school.

He also reported hearing two explosions in the building.

Owen Jones, an inspector from the office of the provincial fire marshal at Vancouver, is examining the site along with RCMP officers.

HOLIDAY

Temporary holidays will be enjoyed by 30 kindergarten and 60 Grade 1 pupils until alternate accommodation can be found.

It is expected classes will start May 30 at the United Church Hall.

This is the second mysterious school fire here in recent years. On Jan. 22, 1964, the Lake Cowichan High School had its gymnasium and 14 of 20 classrooms destroyed by fire that followed an explosion in the gym.

The blast at that time rocked the school just minutes after students had been dismissed from a physical education class.

Damage was estimated at $1,000,000. Pupils were accommodated in trailer classrooms and halls in that area.

MEETING

School board chairman A. B. Greenwell called a special meeting of the trustees for Tuesday night.

Loss at the elementary school is estimated at $80,000.

Disturbed Children

Special Camp Needs Extra Funds

NANAIMO — A board of directors has now been set up for the Vancouver Island camp for special children planned for August at Shawigan Lake. Chairman is Dr. Mladen Zorkin, of Nanaimo; Mayor Kay Groulx of Ladysmith, vice-chairman; Dave Stupick, MLA for Nanaimo and the Islands.

Jerseys Win

Seven Vancouver Island Jersey cows recently won Ton of Gold awards from the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club in Toronto.

To win this award a cow must produce at least 2,000 lbs. of fat in four consecutive years. Haggwood Keeper's Dolly, owned by John Oland, Courtenay, besides being an award winner was also judged as excellent. Haggwood, Famous Daisy, from the same herd won the gold award, and also a lifetime production certificate.

Sylvan Ridge Spot's Happy, Sylvan Ridge Chief's Bonita, and Mountain Brook Ann, owned by Bruce E. Pickering, of Cobble Hill, received gold awards and lifetime production certificates.

Two cows from Arrowsmith Farms at Qualicum, Arrowsmith Buttering, Melinda, and Arrowsmith Royal Sensuelle, both won the ton of gold awards.

Campsite for Tourists

Construction Booming As Gold River Grows

By JULIE MORAES

GOLD RIVER — Gold River and its surrounding territory is really busy these days.

A continuous stream of freight and equipment pour into the area day and night, both for the townsite itself, and for the new 750-ton kraft pulp mill, which will begin production in June 1967.

Work is progressing on the transmission line from Strait-Cornia Dam to the new town and mill. Clearing crews, aided by good weather, are cutting a swath parallel to the Elk River road to the substation at the townsite, and then onward to the millsite at the head of Mochalet Inlet.

The line will be energized in September. Presently, the first all-electric town in Canada is being served by a temporary generating plant in the townsite.

Among the new buildings under construction are the new 50-room Gold River Inn for Delta Properties, built by Marwell Construction; Dawson Hines 14-unit apartment block, featuring one, two and three-bedroom units; the modern service station, prominently located at the entrance to the townsite, constructed by A and B Construction for B-A gasoline, nearly ready for occupancy; and the new sewage treatment plant, expected to be finished in July.

The elementary school site is currently being prepared and construction will begin shortly on the ultra-modern 16-room school expected to be opened at the beginning of the fall term.

Construction is expected to begin soon on the new public access road to the pulp mill, presently served by a restricted access industrial road owned by the Tahsis Co.'s Gold River Logging Division.

This new road will present many construction problems, due to the steep, rocky terrain. The Gold River, and has been blasted out of the canyon walls.

TWO WEEKS

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon Dr. Zorkin stressed the need for funds for the camp which will help 20 children with nervous or emotional disorders. Each child requires $170 to attend the two weeks camp, and already the Alberni Valley has agreed to sponsor eight children.

Dr. Zorkin said up to now little financial support has been forthcoming from industry because they say "their budget is taken."

He said B.C. Forest Products has made the only response so far from industry.

The camp is on a strictly experimental basis and is not connected with the retarded children's movements, Dr. Zorkin said.

A staff of 13 will be at the camp including Dr. Jensen as physician and psychiatrist, a social worker, a psychiatric nurse and student teachers, and student teachers, interested in emotional problems.

Duncan Shows Drop In Building Permits

DUNCAN — Building permits issued from city hall during April decreased slightly from $67,450 a year ago during the same period to $55,650 this year.

Included in this year's partial total are three new dwellings, a sign, renovation, repair and stucco work.

Four-month total this year is $417,290, and last year it was $454,558.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A representative of a New York publishing firm will be in Victoria on Tuesday, June 21st. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication. All subjects will be considered, including fiction and non-fiction.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to our West Coast branch office (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. We will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress.

Horses Best After All

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Horses will replace motorized equipment on 15 of 30 milk routes operated by Foremost Dairies Ltd. in the Kitchener-Waterloo area, the company's president, Robert C. Marran, said Tuesday.

Mr. Marran said tests proved the horse-drawn delivery system was efficient, fast and consistent.

U.K. Strike

Prospects Look Gloomy

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Maritime strike entered a grim phase Tuesday with an uncompromising statement from the seamen's leader that the stoppage could last a month.

In that time the country's economy, already shaky, could be crippled.

The pessimistic statement from William Hogarth, secretary of the striking 65,000-member National Union of Seamen, coincided with indications that the country's longshoremen could become involved in the strike, which began May 16.

Jack Dash, unofficial longshoremen's leader and an admitted card-carrying Communist, warned the government that a dangerous situation would be created if troops or the navy were drafted to clear docks congested with strike-bound shipping.

Under the state of emergency proclaimed Monday, troops could be used to safeguard essential supplies.

The labor government hopes it will not be forced to use state-of-emergency powers. But if the strike is not settled within a week, naval tugs could be brought in to move strikebound ships and make accommodation for foreign vessels bringing food and raw materials.

Dash also warned that in a few days there will be less work.

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A routine test turned into tragedy Tuesday when a helicopter struck a transmission tower on the side of Mount Seymour and two workmen plunged 250 feet to their deaths.

The helicopter crashed at the base of the tower, exploded and burned. Pilot Robert N. Hansen, 30, was thrown clear and was in poor condition following emergency surgery in hospital.

Killed were Joseph Jacob Yoner, 30, of Burnaby, and Robert Smith, 36, of Cloverdale.

Yoner and Smith, steelworkers employed by Western Bridge Ltd., had climbed the tower only five minutes before the accident.

They were checking to see if it was feasible to hook a line from the helicopter to the tower and had planned to unbolt the top 20-foot section so that it could be removed.

The helicopter was circling overhead while the men climbed up. Witnesses said they didn't know if the copter's rotor blade struck a guy wire first or if it hit the tower itself.

The blade chopped through the tower five feet below where the men were working.

The men, a chunk of the tower and the helicopter plummeted to the ground in a shower of debris.

Two CBC technicians, Sam Greenwood and Ken Bewley, were filming the helicopter operation with an eight-millimetre movie camera. They caught the entire incident on film.

Stanley Davis, technical supervisor for radio station

CHQM, owners of the new tower on the side of Mount Seymour, said the accident happened so suddenly "we couldn't tell what went wrong."

"The two men started to climb back down the top 20-foot section, but it broke away and they fell."

"We couldn't see the pilot in the wreckage," said George Patton, one of the workers near the scene. "Then something moved on the ground several feet away and it was him."

"So we dragged him away from the fire."

The tower, built in 20-foot triangular sections, is part of the Vancouver radio station's transmitting system. It is located 3,000 feet up the side of the mountain.

Mr. Hansen is married with a three-year-old daughter. He is a former RCAF jet pilot and has been employed by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., owners of the Hiller L-4 helicopter, since 1964.

Department of Transport investigators were investigating.

The crash was the second in the same area involving a helicopter within the past five days. A pilot and two passengers escaped uninjured Saturday when a copter owned by Wescan Exploration, a North Vancouver mining company, fell 40 feet.

North Shore Crews Strike

Labor Ferment Spreads

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 700 civic workers in North Vancouver city and district went on strike Tuesday for higher pay as labor problems continued to grow throughout British Columbia.

The walkout ended garbage collection, road work and clerical work in civic offices and the court house. Some of the strikers are employed in the district's 38 senior and elementary schools but the union said it would not interfere with teachers or students.

Authorities planned to keep all the schools open without janitors, secretaries and maintenance employees. There are about 18,000 students enrolled.

The strikers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), rejected an increase in salary of 11.3 per cent for a two-year period. They seek 12 per cent in a one-year contract.

Present basic wage is $2.30 an hour compared with $2.28 cents an hour in the city of Vancouver where 1,500 outside workers walked out, almost three weeks ago in a bid for more money.

Members of the Vancouver Civic (Outside) Workers Union (CLC) want an increase of 70 cents an hour during a three-year period. The city offered 28 cents in a two-year package.

Military in Nigeria Bans Political Parties

LAGOS (Reuters) — Nigeria's military rulers have abolished all political parties and said the army will remain in power for three years.

Uganda Army Grabs Palace

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters) — Units of the Uganda army occupied the palace of the Kabaka king of Buganda Tuesday after a violent battle lasting several hours.

An official statement announcing the occupation made no mention of reports that the kabak, Sir Edward Frederick Mutesa, had been arrested.

With the support of the palace guards, the 41-year-old king, ruler of the biggest kingdom in Buganda, held out several hours despite heavy fire from the attacking troops.

LONG FEUD

The siege was the latest episode in a long feud between the Kabaka and President Milton Obote.

King Freddie, as the kabaka was nicknamed when serving as a grenadier guards officer in the British Army, became first president of Buganda a year after the East African country gained independence from Britain. Last February, however, Obote, who was then prime minister, abrogated the constitution and assumed the presidency himself.

WORRIED ABOUT PLOT

He alleged senior officials were plotting his overthrow with the aid of foreign troops. Last Friday the kabaka, through a Buganda parliamentary resolution, called on Obote to remove his central government from Kampala, which is in Buganda.

The president accused the kabaka of rebellion Monday night and declared a state of emergency and a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

As the palace was besieged Tuesday troops blocked all roads to the palace. The government said security forces had occupied the palace to get to a source of illegal arms which had been used against Buganda police and troops.

Guantanamo

Warning Shot Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department said Tuesday an armed Cuban soldier was shot Saturday night after penetrating the perimeter of the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba and ignoring a warning shot fired by a U.S. marine sentry.

The statement came after Cuban Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro claimed in a Havana speech that Luis Ramirez Lopez was killed by U.S. guards at the U.S. base. The state department statement said:

"At about 7:10 p.m. May 21, an armed Cuban soldier was observed who had penetrated the perimeter fence at the Guantanamo naval base."

Judge Begins Review

By FRANK KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Mr. Justice Wishart Spence told newsmen Tuesday he hopes to have his report on the Munsinger affair published before the end of June.

As he showed the 1,200-odd pages of transcript into his briefcase, the 62-year-old judge said he had rented an office in Ottawa with a large boardroom table on which he could spread all the evidence out.

Asked if he was going to take a vacation before writing the report, he replied: "I usually go away after I write them — I find it healthier that way."

The judge must now wade his way through the evidence given by 11 witnesses, contained in several RCMP and government reports, and summed up in argument by four lawyers.

He has promised that if he is going to condemn anyone in his report, he will give the aggrieved people an opportunity to defend themselves in another hearing.

Consequently, Tuesday, he adjourned, rather than terminated the hearings that were so crucial to so many political careers.

Most observers at the hearings felt certain that the judge will be sharply critical of

By JOY HUNTLEY

KELSEY BAY — Money changed hands here Sunday and many residents put on their smuggler's smile to say "I told you so" when the Queen of Prince Rupert crashed into pilings at the terminal here.

The pride of Premier Bennett's ferry fleet, which boasts more tonnage afloat than the Canadian navy on the Pacific, crashed into dolphin supports after being caught by strong currents Sunday.

The big Queen had just returned from Prince Rupert with a cargo of dignitaries making the inaugural trip. For months Kelsey Bay residents, wise in the ways of the sea, have been predicting

Capt. Thomas Parkinson would have trouble docking the big ship if a strong tide combined with a high wind.

Campbell River resident Thor Peterson, who made the trip south on the Queen of Prince Rupert, said the veteran skipper was well aware of the difficulties but had been ignored by design experts who said better facilities were unnecessary.

Mr. Peterson said: "Capt. Parkinson has made a thorough study of tides and winds here but the experts ignored him."

He added: "After the first docking attempt, when three windows on the port side were damaged, Capt. Parkinson brought her in perfectly. He did a terrific job."

A Swift tide caught the stern of the ferry and slammed it into pilings.

Steel plates were also creased in the crash. One passenger commented, "They spent millions on this flagship but pinched pennies on a proper docking facility."

Queen of Prince Rupert cost $6,500,000.
